MARIN GI DIES

'Gave Life For You...'

A Marinwood GI, granted combat leave only three weeks ago to visit his newly born child, was killed in Vietnam yesterday by Communist sniper fire while befriending Vietnamese villagers near the Cambodian border, his family learned last night.

Dead is Sp.-4 George A. Doane, 22, of 251 Cobblestone Drive, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Doane. The father is a dentist in San Francisco.

Mrs. Doane said her son returned from Vietnam on a week's leave May 15 to visit his daughter, Tammy, now three weeks old, and his wife, the former Corlee Meier of Puyallup, Wash. The couple married last July while Doane was stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash.

Doane, a draftee, was assigned communications work in Vietnam as a member of the Fourth Division, Third Brigade, 124th Signal Battalion. He had been in the war zone since last September.

In January, he told of the plight of a combat soldier in a poem which appeared in the Independent-Journal:

"He gives up his life for you and me
So that you and I can live in liberty.
He's far away to fight a war

GEORGE A. DOANE
Leaves newborn child

Doane was born in San Francisco and moved to Marin as a child. He was a 1963 graduate of Terra Linda High School and attended College of Marin.

He worked as an installer-repairman for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Marin before being drafted.

Doane is the 11th Marin resident to die in combat in Vietnam.

Rainstorm Stalls Tam 'Happenings' Until Next Week

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Thirty-thousand teen-agers and hippies, turned on for a hep music and love-loving weekend of rock'n' roll and mind expansion atop Mouunt Tamalpais, were given 30,000 rain checks today.

The KFRC "Magic Mountain Music Festival"—scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. tomorrow—has been postponed a week, announced Tom Rounds, program director.

He took what some considered the soul-destroying decision after being handed the latest weather forecast, which put to flight the fantasy Marin County was in for a warm and dry weekend.

The Weather Bureau said more rain is expected over much of the area tonight and tomorrow.

POLICE GROAN, TOO

Local law enforcement officers joined the teen-agers and those with flowers in their hair in groans of disappointment. For different reasons.

Marin County Undersheriff Sidney Stinson said: "Everything was ready and geared for the weekend. This will cause some readjustment and creates a few problems.

"The mountain will have time to dry out by next weekend and the fire hazard may be back with us again."

Meanwhile, county residents had their own rain problems — particularly in Ross, where 1.98 inches of rain fell in the 24 hours up to 8 a.m. Other communities faired only a little better. In neighboring Kentfield, 1.94 inches was recorded at the same time.

WETTEST JUNE

Rain in June is unexpected but not unusual. There has been rain in 42 out of the 91 years since records were started in 1876.

The most June rain was in 1964 when 2.2 inches fell on San Rafael. Last year, the total for the month was .08 of an inch.

Prize for optimism today should go to Mrs. Ruth Hoyt of Kentfield. She usually records the community's rainfall for the Independent-Journal but couldn't believe yesterday that it would rain in June. She apologized today for putting her rain gauge in summer storage.

In San Rafael, the rain delayed dinner for about 30 commute-weary residents of Belle Avenue last night. Wet bark from a eucalyptus tree crossed electrical power lines and cut supplies from 5:48 p.m. to 6:50 p.m.

Postal workers in Mill Valley today were sorting mail in their

Resignation Of Manager Is Accepted

Lund Cites Loss Of Money From City And County

By ALAN D. JONES

The San Rafael Chamber of Commerce is going into mothballs in two weeks.

Chamber President Clifford S. Lund disclosed today the chamber directors last week accepted the resignation of manager Jack J. Alvarado effective June 15. Alvarado will not be replaced.

Lund said lack of financial support from city and county governments and lack of general participation by members made it impossible for the chamber to maintain a manager.

MISSION PROGRAM

The chamber's Mission to Progress program, marking the 150th anniversary of San Rafael's founding, will continue with money set aside for it, but no other programs are planned, Lund said.

Alvarado said a small number of chamber members have gone all-out to try and maintain the chamber, but without full community support you can't expect a small minority to keep it alive."

"What it amounts to," Alvarado continued, "is when the county and the city cut out their support to the chamber, there was an insufficient number of members to support it."

DRIED UP

Lund said "every source of revenue we've had has dried up in the past two years." He said Marin County supervisors withdrew support in an attempt to force all local chambers into the Marin County Chamber of Commerce.

The San Rafael voters in April rejected a charter change which would have removed the $1,000-per-year ceiling on city appropriations for promotion. Even if the city council passes a proposed hotel tax, Lund said, the $1,000 limit will still apply and the tax will go into the general fund.

The chamber also got income from contracter surveys done by the city. The last of these, a parking study, will be presented to the council Monday, Lund said.

The council is averse to more contracts because the charter vote indicates the voters do not want them, Lund said.

"It's neither reasonable nor possible for the merchants alone

First Fatal Clash In Mideast Crisis

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Two Israeli soldiers and one Syrian infiltrator were reported killed today in a clash near Israel's northern frontier in the first reported fatalities of the 19-day-old Middle East crisis. In Ottawa, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson warned that time was running out on efforts to solve the crisis.

Informed sources in Washington said Israel has agreed to sign an Anglo-American declaration asserting the right of free passage for ships of all nations through the Gulf of Aqaba. Egyptain blockade of the Gulf has brought the Middle East close to war.

But in Cairo, Egypt warned the United States and Britain their joint efforts to break the Egyptian blockade would be considered "aggression" against Egypt. It accused the United States and Britain of plotting another Suez--a reference to the 1956 invasion by France and Britain.

Wilson issued his warning in Ottawa as he completed crisis talks with Prime Minister Lester Pearson and left for Washington for more of the same with President Johnson this afternoon.

"We now have only one or two days left to solve a tense situation—the Gulf of Aqaba—as well as other problems in the Middle East," Wilson told an Ottawa news conference. Israel has threatened to strike if Egypt does not lift the blockade.

Wilson said he wanted to see the return of an "adequate" United Nations peacekeeping force between Israel and the United Arab Republic and said it must operate on both sides of the border.

Wilson said solutions to the Mideast crisis "must be sought through the U.N.—if this fails

Demos Win Key Victory In Tax Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Democrats turned back a Republican attempt to kill withholding of personal income taxes today over minority Republican charges of "shenanigans" and "dilly dallying."

It was another big victory for Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, in his battle to force Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan from his ironclad stand against withholding.

Unruh won 39-37 approval of amendments to a $1.5 billion tax increase bill that provides for withholding. That had the effect of delaying a final decision on the bill by Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, until next week.

Pole Topples; Six Soldiers Electrocuted

SPRINGFIELD, Va. (UPI)—Six soldiers were electrocuted yesterday when the 50-foot flagpole they were erecting on a marshy Little League baseball field toppled onto a high tension wire.

Bob Ramey, 16, who was walking past the field, said the soldiers were struggling to steady the swaying pole in a cement base.

Then he heard one of the soldiers yell: "There it goes. It's going."

And with a final wild swing, the metal flagpole toppled onto a high tension line.

"There was this big flash, and then the GIs were just lying there in the mud with their clothes on fire," Ramey said.

The six soldiers died instantly. They were members of the 77th Engineer Port Construction company.

The dead soldiers were identified as Pvt. Charles P. Oliver, Vermillion, Ohio; Spec. 4 Kenneth G. Steiner, St. Anne, Mo.; Pvt. Marvin D. Harrison, Jacksonville, Fla.; Pvt. Paul D. Briggs, Waco, Tex.; Pvt. Anthony Evans, Uniontown, Pa. and Pvt. Charles M. Whaley, Aberdeen, Ohio.

$29.6 Million County Program Is Endorsed

Marin County supervisors today unanimously endorsed a six-year, $29.6 million capital improvement program as a guide, but left the possibility of bond issues for specific projects open for later discussion.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen strongly endorsed bonds. Supervisor John F. McInnis agreed in principle to bonding, but thought it would be extremely difficult to get voter approval.

Deleted from the capital improvement plan, already discussed May 22 by supervisors, was $140,000 for a central morgue. County Administrator Alan Bruce has recommended against the project.

Though Kettenhofen urged bonding, he said that he would be against a special election for bonds, describing special elections as "gimmicks." Supervisor McInnis agreed, saying that "well engineered" special elections cause supporters to vote and opponents to stay home.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said that he would like to see another try for a park bond issue with more specific information in the campaign, including prices of land to be purchased and alternative purchases.

In other action today supervisors voted to oppose Assembly Bill 1084, which would allow next of kin to force coroner's inquests.

The board took no action on Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos's request for assurance of overtime pay in case he has to call out extra deputies to police the "Magic Mountain" music festival on Mount Tamalpais, which has been postponed from tomorrow and Sunday to June 9 and 10.

Bruce Says Be Kind To Hippies

Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce told several county department heads yesterday that hippies expected in Marin in great numbers this summer should be treated with "understanding and communication rather than with a policy of persecution and fear."

Bruce called the meeting of about 20 employees with Henry Jefferson Sudduth IV, known as Buddah, a hippie leader. The session in the Civic Center lasted two hours yesterday.

An Independent-Journal reporter left the meeting when Bruce said the reporter could only stay on an "off the record" basis.

Brown Named Defense Lawyer

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Former Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California has been retained to defend Andreas Papandreou against charges of conspiring to commit treason, informed sources here said today.

Russ Charges Ship Bombed In Vietnam

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government charged that one of its ships was bombed today in a North Vietnamese port and declared it was "an act of banditry which may have far-reaching consequences."

The Russians said the 3,358-ton diesel ship Turkistan was bombed at Cam Pha, 40 miles north of the main port of Haiphong, and two crew members badly wounded. The ship was damaged, it added.

Christmas Saved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Post Office notified Rep. Philip E. Ruppe, R-Mich., yesterday that the post office at the tiny community of Christmas, Mich., would be reopened effective June 15. The department had decided earlier that Christmas was too small to have its own post office.

But the annual Christmas stamp was issued here last year and the village basked in the attendant publicity. Ruppe had protested to the department that the community could not afford to lose its eye-catching postmark. He said it served an economic purpose, attracting many tourists to the area.

Crew Escapes As Gale Snags Blimp On Wire

DUNREITH, Ind. (AP) —The 160-foot-long Goodyear blimp Mayflower, battling strong winds, snagged on high-tension power lines about 75 feet above the ground on busy U.S. 40 just east of this east-central Indiana town early today.

The two-man crew slid to the ground on a safety rope as police and fire department searchlights played on them.

The pilot, Richard Nye of Miami, Fla., was admitted to Henry County Hospital at nearby New Castle for exhaustion. A hospital spokesman said he would be released later today.

The other crewman, Richard Johnson, also of Miami, was unhurt.

The crewmen said a gasoline can in back of the gondola caught fire when the blimp hit the wires, but they extinguished it.

The blimp, crumbled in the middle and hanging over the wires, blocked two lanes of U.S. 40. Police rerouted heavy traffic around the site.

The power in the lines was cut, but firemen stood by.

Goodyear officials said helium had been ordered to pump into the blimp in an attempt to get it off the wires.

Robert Lane, Goodyear's publice relations man at Akron, Ohio, said the blimp was en route from Indianapolis where it was during the 500-mile race held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Touring Viet Senator Sees Troops Need

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., just back from a trip to Vietnam, says Gen. William C. Westmoreland sees a need for 600,000 U.S. troops in the embattled country by the end of the year.

There are now 453,000 U.S. servicemen in Vietnam, and the administration's working plan calls for this to increase to 480,000 by Dec. 31.

Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, discussed reinforcements with President Johnson during the general's recent visit to Washington, but there was no indication the working plan would be changed.

Dominick, discussing his trip with reporters yesterday, declined to state his own opinion on reinforcing U.S. troops, but he called for a stiffened offensive in other ways.

He said he favored resuming U.S. bombing of Hanoi, except for residential areas, and the quarantining of Haiphong, North Vietnam's major port.

Dominick also called for the recommissioning of a battleship to be used in shelling North Vietnam. He said that country had a "higher degree of air defenses" than U.S. forces encountered in Germany's Ruhr valley during World War II.

Major Wall Street Probe; Six Indicted

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal grand jury's indictment of six men accused of taking part in a stock-rigging plot was believed today to be only the beginning of a series of legal actions growing from investigations of questionable stock market dealings.

The 21-count indictments returned yesterday charged the men with conspiracy to defraud the public in connection with trnsactions in stock of Pentron Electronics Inc., listed on the American Stock Exchange.

Stocks in six other companies on the American (AMEX) Exchange have been mentioned.

It is known that federal grand juries have been examining trading in at least one security listed on the New York Stock Exchange and one traded over-the-counter.

MAFIA INVOLVED?

In addition to the investigation in New York, similar inquiries have been undertaken by the AMEX itself, the Illinois state attorney general, and the Chicago Police Department. The latter investigation involves several Mafia figures, one of whom was shot to death March 17.

SUSPECTS NAMED

The stock-rigging indictments named four Chicagoans and two New Yorkers. The Chicagoans were Osborn Andreas, 63, former treasurer and chairman of Pentron; Spero Furla, 42, a one-time customers man for Douglas Securities Corp.; Robert Ness, 38, a lawyer; and Mark Rolland, 33, finance company operator.

The two New Yorkers were Mario Trombone, 38, a public relations consultant, and Paul Heischuber, 27, a former securities salesman.

The indictment charged that Andreas got Furla, Ness, and Rolland to drive up the price of Pentron stock and help to unload 144,000 shares of stock owned by Andreas at the higher price. In payment, the three were to get 175,000 shares of Pentron from a trust fund set up for Andreas' children at prices $2 per share below the going market price.

Trombone and Heischuber were paid by the trio for aid in influencing purchases of Pentron stock, the indictment said. In the period under investigation, Pentron stock rose from a low of $1.25 in 1965 to a high of $3.75 per share in 1966. On the Amex yesterday Pentron closed at $1.63, unchanged.

Transit System Needs Are Told

Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker last night described a county staff study on a "balanced transportation system" at a meeting of the Marin Citizens Transportation Committee.

He said improved bus transportation is "a must." He said a report on the history of transportation decisions in Marin is being prepared and will soon be available.

A subcommittee to choose areas for study was set up, and the committee set the next meeting for June 22 at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center.

MINISKIRTS BANNED FROM STATEHOUSE

ATLANTA (UPI) — Gov. Lester Maddox, apparently dismayed at what he saw on the streets, yesterday banned miniskirts and beatle haircuts for members of his executive staff.

"I want the skirts down to the knees on the ladies and the hair up to the ears on the men," Maddox ordered in a private memorandum to his staff of 15 women and 10 men.

A Baptist who doesn't drink or smoke, the governor said his staff's fashions must be "in keeping with the dignity of this office . . . and not like those worn on the streets of our city."

SPRINGTIME IN THE SIERRA

Motorists find things a little "unspringy" in the Sierra near Soda Springs in Nevada County. A spring blizzard yesterday trapped many motorists on Interstate 80 without tire chains. The outlook for the area is for more snow during the weekend. (AP Wirephoto) other action must be taken." He did not elaborate but the United States has said in the past it would use force if necessary to keep the Gulf of Aqaba open to international shipping.

One hopeful sign of an easing of the crisis came from London where diplomatic sources said Russia had intimated to her Syrian and Egyptian allies they must not expect direct Soviet support for any "holy war" of extermination against Israel.

President Charles de Gaulle of France called again today for a Big Four conference on the Mideast—a call rejected previously by Russia.

In the meantime the Anglo-American efforts to open the Gulf of Aqaba through international diplomacy appeared the best hope of restoring the situation. The United Nations appeared powerless at the moment and the Security Council was in recess until tomorrow so delegates could talk in private.

There had been a series of minor border incidents since the Mideast crisis flared but no deaths had been reported.

Today, the Israeli high command, now headed by war hero Lt. Gen. Moshe Dayan, said Syrian terrorists crossed the border and were engaged by an Israeli patrol.

Israel said the fighting broke out near Kfarhansi, about six miles east of the northern Israeli town of Safad. It said four Syrians were involved and that one Syrian and two Israelis were killed.

It said the Syrians had been on a terrorist mission and that the Israelis captured a machine-gun, four hand grenades and anti-personnel mines.

Israel has charged that Syria really precipitated the currrent brink-of-war crisis by sending terrorists and saboteurs into the border areas and attacking Israeli farmers near the Sea of Galilee. Several Israeli retaliatory attacks followed, including a bombing attack on Syrian gun positions, and the situation deteriorated steadily.

Ike Dedicates D-Day Mural

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower dedicated a D-Day mural at the U.S. Military Academy Museum today, paying tribute to the soldiers who "reached deep for fortitude and discipline" to make the landing.

Eisenhower, who commanded the Allied invasion of the French coast at Normandy in 1944, said "the day still lives vividly in my memory and I could go on until midnight. But memories and feelings are treacherous, and I may grow maudlin."

"Whatever happens in Vietnam — and I can conceive of nothing there but a military victory and, given a chance for that unhappy country to establish itself — our soldiers will serve with ultimate devotion and they will never call retreat," Eisenhower said.

Marines, South Viet Troops Pound Enemy

SAIGON (AP) — A task force of South Vietnamese paratroopers and infantry with thunderous air and artillery support chopped up a crack Communist battlion just south of the demilitarized zone today and killed at least 150 of the enemy, the Vietnamese Command announced.

A few miles to the west U.S. Marines were calling in air and artillery against a bunkered Communist ridgeline where dug-in North Vietnamese regulars killed 13 Marines and wounded 63 yesterday.

The 5,000-man South Vietnamese task force of paratroopers, infantry and armored vehicles ran into the crack Viet Cong 708th Mobile Battalion within five miles of the U.S. Marine base at Dong Ha, northeast of Quang Tri.

Scattered actions and Red mortar fire were reported all along the area below the zone, an area shielding the five politically shaky provinces of northern South Vietnam. Sporadic fighting also was reported throughout the five provinces, where Communist infiltration efforts have concentrated for months.

Serious fighting also was reported in the Mekong delta, where the Reds mortared the provincial capital of Tan An 23 miles from Saigon.

The Communists early today shelled a camp holding Red defectors, killing one and wounding 28. They followed with a small ground assault which was beaten off with the aid of a circling American spitting gatling-gun fire.

Although American pilots flew 127 missions over North Vietnam yesterday, the weather was worse than it has been for a week and strikes were limited largely to supply targets well outside the Hanoi-Haiphong area. Many of the strikes were radar directed, some at night.

No planes were reported lost and there were no reports of Communist MIG jets in the air.

CHAMBER

to support the chamber," he said, "because the programs go so far beyond the merchant community."

"It is with a greata deal of regret I find that the chamber over three years has not materialized as expected," Alvarado said. "Unfortunately . . . community activities that are important to everybody are just not taken to heart.

"It's hard to realize that a city of San Rafael's magnitude should have so little interest in supporting a service . . . which can act as a catalyst for all phases of community life."

Lund said the board accepted Alvarado's resignation only because of the financial squeeze. "He's done a good job," Lund said.

Alvarado, a San Rafael resident for 29 years, became chamber manager in July, 1964. He previously was an account salesman in San Francisco for an advertising firm, and before that was in public relations for Matson Lines.

"The city is going to be much poorer for the loss of a chamber manager and the substantially reduced activities of the chamber," Lund said.

Acquittal Asked, Not Martyrdom

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—A defense attorney told a general court-martial today Capt. Howard B. Levy, the Army doctor who refused to train Green Beret medics for duty in Vietnam could become a martyr for the antiwar movement, if convicted.

"I don't want a martyr. I want an acquittal," said Charles Morgan Jr., of the American Civil Liberties Union.

In closing argument, Morgan said he did not want to create "a man around whom medical students can rally, a man around whom a peace movement can rally."

Small Abalone Brings Arrests

Five men were apprehended with undersized abalone this week at Pierce Point, Tomales Bay, by Warden Russell Ild, and posted from $100 to $50 bail each at the Northwest Marin Justice Court.

The five, reported justice clerk Stella Philipsheck, were Carrol M. Hetland, 45, and Charles Hetland, 20, both of Modesto; John H. Corcoran, 47, of Woodland; Albert F. Manick, 41, of Sacramento; and Hugh E. Orrick, 36, of Dixon.

Also, each posting $50 bail for the possession of undersized cockle clams, were Albert V. Scravino, 35, of El Cerrito and Chinn L. Callan, 27, of Mill Valley.

42-38. But three Democrats are absent and Unruh needs their votes to possibly send the bill back to a Democratic-dominated committee to keep withholding alive.

Assembly Majority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, accused Unruh of delaying tactics.

Unruh said it was Monagan who was trying to delay a vote with his suggestion that action be put off until the absent members were brought back.

He said Monagan was jeopardizing the proceedings of the entire house.

The first vote on Unruh's amendments — which revise child care center financing — was 38-38. But the roll call was held open and finally Democrat John Quimby of Rialto changed his vote, explaining he had voted no by mistake.

The Veneman bill needs a two-thirds majority of 54 to pass and Democrats conceded they don't have enough votes to put it out over Reagan's objections. Thus a final vote today would have killed the bill and withholding.

raincoats. The post office was to be reroofed. Contractor Robert L. Safe of Berkeley had removed the old roof. When rain started last night, his workers put plastic sheets over the building in lieu of a roof.

They didn't hold. There was up to three inches of rain on the post office floor today.

Middle School Plan Reviewed For Public

Twenty persons attended a presentation last night at Park School in Mill Valley of preliminary plans for a "middle school" and recreation facility in the Project 17 area, reported Mrs. Lincoln B. Trustee William P. Everts stressed the importance of the measure to children now in school, she said, and Robert N. Royston explained details of his plans, which suggest how the new school, game fields and landscaping would be provided on the 40-acre site.

State Park Grows At Bargain Price

The 322-acre Macalester College property has been bought as an addition to Mount Tamalpais State Park for $250,000, far below the $372,000 state appraisal, it was announced late yesterday.

The purchase, announced by State Park and Recreation Director William Penn Mott Jr., was the first acquisition by the state under its $4 million expansion program for the park.

The $250,000 price tag was set several months ago by the college, according to Bert Wiley, land agent for the division of beaches and parks. The state appraisal later came in $122,000 higher and the state was delighted to settle for the ccollege's price. Wiley called it "a real bargain."

The property was given to the college in St. Paul, Minn., about four years ago by George P. Leonard, owner of the Stinson Beach Water Co. and a trustee of the college. It connects Stinson Beach and Tamalpais state parks.

The state also bought a 12-acre parcel adjoining the college property from Leonard for $50,000, the full amount of the state's appraisal.

The state is about to undertake appraisal of the major acquisition for expansion of the park, the approximately 2,300-acre combined Brazil and Souza properties.

Options on these are held by a Southern California organization calling itself the First Christian Church of America. That group, which bought the options about a year ago from a syndicate headed by John Fell Stevenson, has announced extensive development plans for the area.

Rain-Slick Roads Blamed For Three Injury Crashes

Rain-slick roadways yesterday contributed to three Marin highway accidents which caused minor injuries to drivers and passengers, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Three cars collided at 5 p.m. on Highway 101, north of the San Quentin wye, San Rafael. Betty Ann Toole, 34, of 349 Mount Shasta Drive, San Rafael, braked her northbound car which spun and was hit by a car driven by Harry Louis Bach, 66, of 17 Crestwood Drive, San Rafael, the highway patrol said. A car driven by Hoyle Polk, 63, og San Francisco, then slid into Bach's car.

Betty Toole was bumped on her head and Barbara Bach, 61, a passenger in Bach's car, suffered a bruised right arm. Both told the patrol they would see their own doctors.

At 7:30 p.m. on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard west of Shoreline Highway, near Inverness, a car driven by George Donald Giambastini, 18, of Point Reyes Station, swerved off the shoulder and across the road when a deer ran in front of it. He refused hospitalization for minor injuries.

George William Bauer, 44, of 79 Knight Drive, San Rafael, suffered minor injuries at 8:55 p.m. on Highway 17, south of Highway 101 in East San Rafael. His northbound car slid off the wet road, then rolled over through the divider fence between Highway 17 and Francisco Boulevard, the patrol reported. Bauer also refused hospitalization.

Adams said he hopes to reactivate the Progress, a community newsletter defunct for about two years.

Tiburon Rec Train Idea Is Proposed

A train running the length of Tiburon Peninsula was proposed last night to Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission by two railroad buffs.

Vincent Tobin of Point Reyes Station, a promoter of small railroads, and Andrew Gladney, an engineer with Railroad experience, told commissioners they felt a small train on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way, when abandoned, would be compatible with hiking and bicycle trails there.

They promised to bring in a proposed program at the commission's July 6 meeting, according to chairman Irving Moulin.

Commissioner George McKegney was appointed to choose a committee of four citizens to decide on a name for the park below Del Mar Heights which is to be developed for this summer.

The commission decided to ask park supervisor John A. Biggio of Angel Island State Park that the city and the humane society be notified of any future plan to thin out the herd of deer on the island.

The commission adjourned to June 15.

Sausalito Budget Up; No Tax Hike Likely

A $1,188,701 budget for fiscal 1968 was proposed last night to Sausalito City Council by City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

Up from the current fiscal year's $859,000, the proposed budget would not require an increase in the current property tax rate of $1.315 per $100 assessed valuation, he said.

The increase in the budget is misleading, Patterson said, because it includes $148,000 for Phase One of the Bridgeway widening and $92,500 to begin construction of a new library, and most funds for both already have been set aside.

The proposed budget anticipates a $1,119 surplus, and $35,000 unallocated reserve.

VALUATION UP

Assessed valuation of property in the city is up 5.5 per cent for next fiscal year, Patterson said. As other sources of increased revenue, he recommended higher parking fees and 120 new parking meters on Humboldt Street and Bridgeway and for buses parking behind Vina del Mar Plaza.

Last night's meeting technically was of the council's finance committee. Jan Paul Dyk and Alexander R. Imlay, but all councilmen were present. No one from the public attended.

Patterson also recommended six new employees: Two firemen, a policeman, a parking enforcement officer, a mechanic, and a planner.

RATE DEADLINE

The Sept. 1 deadline to set the tax rate will fall before the referendum on the council's plan to finance a new library through lease-purchase, Patterson noted, so the council will have to set a library tax rate to finance the library before the referendum. If the payment period is extended to 25 years, he said, no tax rate hike may be necessary.

In a review of the police department's proposed $222,577 budget, up from the current $186,249, the committee tentatively endorsed Patterson's recommendations for one additional policeman at $7,356, salary increases averaging 7.5 per cent, three new police cars for $7,500, a radar unit for $1,032, and a second motor scooter for parking enforcement for $1,550. Chief Edward S. Kreins' salary was increased from $950 to $1,075 a month.

The finance committee also tentatively recommended raising weekend rates for parking in the lot behind Vina del Mar Plaza from the 20 cents an hour to 50 cents for the first hour and 25 cents for each additional hour. It also recommended increasing fees in the city lot next to Bank of America from $7.50 to at least $10 a month, and agreed to consider dropping the parking validation books sold to merchants. So few are sold, Mayor Mel Wax said, that "they are a headache."

Patterson said that at future budget hearings he will propose that the city provide ambulance service for all calls, not only for emergencies, as at present. The commercial ambulance company that had a station in Alto, he said, has pulled back to San Rafael.

Recently, it took 26 minutes for an ambulance to reach an injured person in Sausalito, he noted.

Addition of two new firemen will provide enough firemen to man the service around the clock, he said.

AMBULANCE FEES

Patterson also said he will propose that the city charge $30 for ambulance calls, up from the current $25. Commercial rates range up to $40, he noted. The committee agreed the service should be confined to the city limits.

The committee set its second hearing at 9:30 a.m. Sunday in City Hall to review the planning budget and tour proposed public works projects. A complete proposed budget will be ready Monday, Patterson said.

Tot Lot Advanced By Homeowners

The Marin Estates Homeowners Association last night agreed on final plans for a tot lot on El Camino Drive in Corte Madera, and decided to start construction this month.

The association has budgeted $150 for the lot this year, and plans to develop it over several years.

To char-broil half-a-dozen hamburgers, Mr. Muggles needs: expensive, messy sack of charcoal, kindling wood, lighter fluid, fire bucket, determination, and about an hour.

To char-broil half-a-dozen hamburgers, Mr. English needs: a gas grill, and less than 20 minutes.

How come?
Gas makes the big difference.

Outdoor grill by Charmglow

Poor Mr. Muggles. He's still outdoor-chefing it the old, hard way. Good luck, Mr. Muggles. Mr. English doesn't need luck. He's in control at his new gas grill. He gets all the outdoor flavor—without the mess and guess.

Installed on your patio, a gas grill puts you in control of the heat—and it's always even heat! The coals are ready when you are, too. No long wait. No stalling your guests. Hub Council Hears Requests For Money

San Anselmo City Council last night reviewed fiscal 1968 budget requests for public works, parks and recreation, planning, design review committee and chamber of commerce, but postponed all decisions to the end of budget sessions.

City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel said 5 per cent salary increases requested by city employees would cost the city $27,500.

He explained that he prepared the $1,122,900 budget in two sections, the first with expenses needed to maintain city operations at their present level, the second including all requests for capital improvements and additional personnel.

The capital improvement items were given "A" through "D" priorities, and the "A" priorities alone would total $85,000, but the budget allowed only $75,000 for all such items, Keappel said.

PARK REQUESTS

Parks and recreation department's requests totaled $90,793. Kaeppel's recommendation for operating expenses totaled $49,625.

Major items under the capital improvement section were $2,050 for a lawn mower-tractor, "A" priority; $6,000 for an irrigation system for Memorial Park, "A" priority; $4,000 for tennis court lights in Memorial Park, "D" priority; $8,000 for initial development of the Memorial Park master plan, "D" priority and $8,000 for acquisition of the American Legion building, "D" priority.

SORICH RANCH

A man in the audience asked why there was nothing in the budget for opening or improvement of Sorich Ranch. Kaeppel said he was waiting for landscape architect William Kapranos to finish a master plan for the park.

At suggestion of John M. Reichmuth, the council asked that the parks and recreation commission estimate cost of minimum facilities to open the park.

Councilman Robert M. Scott suggested repeatedly that some of the items be financed through a bond issue. He first made the suggestion while park development was being considered, and repeated it during discussion of public works capital improvements.

Public works department requests totaled $90,282, and Kaeppel's recommendations totaled $160,181, without improvements, both figures excluding street construction.

STREET WORK

Kaeppel recommended $306,240 for street construction, to include widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, reconstruction of Oak Springs Drive and resurfacing of Red Hill Avenue from the San Rafael line to the Hub intersection. All but $28,140 would come from gasoline tax funds, and the $28,140, city matching funds, would not have to be included in this budget, Kaeppel said.

The council seemed favorable to the department's request to have a maintenance man for a position vacant since an opening occurred a few months ago.

Major public works capital improvent requests included $12,000 for two dump trucks, "C" priority; $1,200 for a used two-way radio, "A"; $27,000 for overlay on Drake, "C"; $3,500 to clean up an old slide area on Woodside Court, "A"; $10,000 to repair the slide area on Woodside Drive where the home of Edward Salza was destroyed in January.

Also $12,000 to remove the debris of apartment buildings on Red Hill destroyed in a slide in January, "A"; $5,500 for bus shelters, "D"; $8,340 for a storm drain master plan, "A"; $2,500 for a storm drain at Madron Avenue, "B"; $7,950 for a traffic study, "A", and $11,300 to replace traffic controllers on Drake, "B."

SURVEY QUESTIONED

Scott questioned spending money for a traffic survey and made an obscure reference to "a petition with 1,800 signatures." He declined to say what was on the petition, but said it will "be important at the next election," and said the opinions represented by the petition were frequently at odds with recommendations which came out of the recent San Anselmo town meeting.

Design review committee requests totaled $175, and Kaeppel recommended $100, the difference being a file cabinet. The planning commission requested $3,540, and Kaeppel recommended $3,312. The chamber of commerce requested $5,000, including $1,500 for a brochure on San Anselmo.

The council will continue study of the budget next Tuesday and Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at city Hall.

Crown Imposes Rioting Law

HONG KONG (UPI)—British authorities today struck back at Chinese Communist agitators by imposing a stiff law against the Peking-inspired propaganda machine that has sparked rioting and strikes in the Crown Colony.

The colony's executive council passed a law yesterday making it a crime to put up Communist wall posters that criticize the government. The law carried a maximum punishment of $875 fine and two years in prison.

Into the colony came a vanguard of Americans from Macao following U.S. Consul General Edward Rice's warning that the Portuguese colony was "not a safe place of residence for Americans."

Sewer Line Exploration To Be Made

San Rafael Sanitation District explore two possible moves to provide more sewer connections in Peacock Gap.

The Peacock Gap treatment plant is near capacity and the district has filed suit to force Latipac Inc. to expand its capacity from 400 to 900 connections.

Directors asked District Engineer Ely Caillouette to investigate whether there is $300,000 in unissued assessment district bonds available to finance plant expansion.

Jerome C. Draper, president of Draper Companies, developers of the area, reported last month that he was checking into the possibility of using a reported $300,000 in unissued bonds.

Consulting engineer John Jenks of Palo Alto reported the district could increase the capacity of the plant by extending the outfall line 1,000 or 1,200 feet. "This would provide capacity for another 200 connections," he said.

Jenks said extending the outfall line would cost "from $50,000 to $75,000."

Directors agreed to wait until the reported $300,000 bond fund matter is cleared up before taking any action toward expanding the line. If the bond money is available for plant expansion, the outfall extension proposal will be abandoned.

The board also heard a report from Cailloutte that the contractor hopes to finish the Bret Harte Heights sewer project within a month.

Directors rejected a claim by Hazel C. Baxter of 111 Altena Street and Mary J. Smith of Altena Street for $110,000 in property damages allegedly resulting from the Bret Harte project.

The fewer and smaller the holes in Swiss cheese, the better the cheese. According to cheese experts, small holes show that fermentation has been carefully controlled.

Final Ark To Be Torn Down Monday

The only ark still standing on land condemned for the first phase of the Corte Madera Flood Control Project in Larspur will be vacated Sunday and torn down Monday.

Mrs. Gerda Welden, occupant of the only ark left standing when 17 others in Larspur were torn down the past weekend, was supposed to vacate the ark yesterday but has been given permission by county flood control officials to remain until Sunday.

Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst said city crews will tear down her ark Monday.

Party Line Votes Kill Smut Bans

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two Senate-passed bills intended to crack down on smut merchants —especially those who pander to teen-aged customers—died in the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee when Democratic members voted as a bloc against them.

The measures had bipartisan support from Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and Democratic Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch.

But there was nothing bipartisan about the vote that rejected the bills shortly before midnight yesterday. A motion to send the proposals to the lower house floor failed on a 5-5 tie with all Republican members voting for the legislation and all Democrats opposing it.

Under legislative rules, a bill is dead if it fails to win the support of a majority of the committee to which it is assigned. There is no way to break a tie in the 10-member committee.

One of the bills, by Sen. Robert J. LaGomarsino, R-Ojai, would have prohibited the sale of "harmful" matter to persons under 18 years of age.

The measure's definition of "harmful" matter would include spicy material which is not obscene enough to be outlawed under the state's present pornography law.

The other measure would have tightened the definition of obscenity to include more strict rulings handed down recently by the U.S. Supreme Court. That bill would have applied to adults as well as minors.

One anti-pornography bill survived the hearing. Action on that measure, by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, was postponed for two weeks.

The Knox bill would make it a crime for an adult to sell smut to a person under 16 years of age. It would make no change in the present law regarding the sale of obscenity to adults.

Portable TVs Are Stolen

A man yesterday stole two small portable television sets worth $285 from Klein's TV, 14 Princess Street, Sausalito, then fled in a getaway car driven by an accomplice, police reported.

Repairman Ellis D. Murphy told police he was in the rear of the store when he heard the man leave. Murphy said he chased the man down to Bridgeway, where he jumped into a waiting car and escaped.

Murphy said the man was 25 to 30 years old, and had a three-inch trimmed beard.

Berkeley Campus To Gain Troupe

(Special to the I-J)

BERKELEY — A professional summer theater will be established this year for the first time on the Berkeley campus by the University of California's department of dramatic art.

Chairman Travis Bogard announced that the new company will be formed around a core of drama alumni who will take leave from their professional commitments for the summer.

Three plays planned for the Alumni Theater Group in Wheeler Auditorium are: Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juilet," Duerrenmatt's "The Visit," and a restoration comedy by George Farquhar, "The Recruiting Officer."

Our basic aim," Bogard said, "is to bring our students into contact with professional working conditions, and enable them to profit from the professional experience of alumni."

In Good Condition

The condition of Beatric Vidal Pino of 10 Sonoma Street, San Rafael, had improved from fair to good today at Marin General Hospital. She underwent surgery Tuesday for injuries suffered in a traffic accident Monday.

DALE STOCKING

Three Tam Juniors Due Eagle Ranks

Three Tamalpais High School juniors, who have gone through scouting together since their rookie days, will make the rank of Eagle Scout together today.

Daniel Allis of 19 Heather Way, Garrett Graver of 254 Miller Avenue, and Dale Stocking of 164 Hillside, all of Mill Valley, will receive scouting's highest award at a ceremony scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Methodist Church of Mill Valley.

Principal speaker will be attorney Edward FitzSimmons of Berkeley, who will "issue the challenge" to the new Eagle scouts.

All three were members of Troop 28 and later went into Post 28 together. Troop 28 has an outstanding record of producing Eagles. Since its organization 12 years ago, 26 per cent of scouts in this troop have earned the Eagle rank.

Cub Pack 28, Troop 28 and Post 28 are sponsored by the Citizens' Committee of Mill Valley with Prentice Goldstone as chairman.

Planners Set Light Hearing

A new look at lighting on Main Street will be taken by the Tiburon Planning Commission at 8 p.m. Monday at City Hall.

Before the street is torn up for undergrounding of utility lines, development administrator Phil V. Scott is seeking coordination of the several lighting styles on Main Street.

Charley Townsend, commercial lighting representative of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., is expected to take part in the discussion.

Fairfax Asks For Smaller Annexation

Fairfax is seeking to annex a smaller area, 237 acres northwest of Oak Manor, after a proposed 375-acre annexation was killed by protests from property owners.

The city's revised proposal was outlined to the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night by Executive Officer John F. Barrows.

The northerly area of the former proposal was eliminated and the reduced area is within the boundaries previously approved by the commission, Barrows noted. The proposed annexation, northeast of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, "jumps over Oak Manor to the undeveloped area," he pointed out.

Commissioners postponed a hearing on annexation of the 152-acre Dias Ranch to the Tamalpais Fire Protedtion District until July 6.

Local Agency Formation commissioners agreed the district board and the developer, Alfred Stern, should have time to try for an agreement on the fire station matter.

Barrows explained the annexation application was filed by the developer and the fire protection district "was only aware when it got the notice."

Commissioners approved an application by Everett Berg of Greenbrae Convalescent Hospital for annexation to the City of Larkspur of a hospital site, .35 of an acre, on the south side of Bayview Road.

This prompted Lesly A. Daveler of Larkspur to suggest annexation of other parcels in the area. "Larkspur should be east of Bon Air Road," he said.

Commissioner Neil R. Brixon, a Larkspur city councilman who abstained on the bote, then left his chair and went into the audience to reply.

Brixon said: "We have tried and pleaded to have them come in, but we're getting nowhere. We're working on it. The only chance is the hospital district."

Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission also:

SONOMA ANNEXATION — Postponed until July 6 an application by owners to annex 59 acres in Sonoma County to the North Marin County Water District. The postponement was at request of the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission.

SAN RAFAEL — Approved application by Charles M. Grandi of Northbay Associates for annexation of three acres at the north end of Oakmont Circle to the City of San Rafael.

NOVATO — Approved annexation of 1.68 acres at 2060 Vineyard Road to the City fo Novato. Commissioner J. Wayne Womack, Novato mayor, abstained.

NOVATO SANITARY — Approved annexation of four acres at Vineyard Road and Wild Horse Valley Drive and one-half acre parcel on Center Road to the Novato Sanitary District.

MUIR BEACH — Continued until July 6 a hearing on Miwok Corp.'s request for detachment from the Muir Beach Community Services District, at request of both parties.

TIBURON SANITARY — Approved an application by Dr. Donovan O. Cooke for annexation for annexation of a 1.5-acre parcel along Tiburon Boulevard to the Tiburon Sanitary District.

Chairman Jan Paul Dyk was absent.

Tiburon Merger Issue Reaches Action Phase

Arguments both pro and con on the proposed annexation of Tiburon Peninsula to the City of Tiburon have been aired loudly and sometimes heatedly.

Some have suggested that parts of the Tiburon Peninsula might be better off annexed to the City of Mill Valley.

The long-standing controversy, for and against the merger, is coming to a head through the efforts of a pro-merger group which is ready to circulate petitions calling for a public election.

The petition must contain signatures of 25 per cent of the registered voters in the area proposed to be annexed before the city council can call for a special election.

The rights of residents both within and without the City of Tiburon are safeguarded by the provisions for protests and hearings. The city manager estimates that it may be six months before the matter actually comes to a vote.

A detailed analysis of what the annexation proposal entails and what the merger will mean has been prepared by the city. Residents from Strawberry to Paradise Cay will have a chance to discuss the merits of the proposed annexation. Before the measure gets on the ballot, voters will have had ample time to inform themselves.

A majority vote is required, both within the incorporated City of Tiburon and in the area to be annexed, before a merger can be effected. If one or the other (City of Tiburon or the area to be annexed) opposes the annexation, then proceedings must terminate.

The City of Tiburon cannot impose its will on the rest of the Peninsula if the residents are unwilling. Neither can the rest of the Peninsula force themselves on the City, over the objections of City residents.

The Committee for Annexation is to be commended for taking the controversial matter out of the talking stage and into the action phase. This is the democratic way to resolve controversies, and a fine example of local self-determination in action.

We hope the petitions will enable the matter to get on the ballot so that the people can decide on the future of their Peninsula through the ballot box.

Gophers Aren't Stupid

Although gophers would probably take no prizes in an animal IQ contest, their instinctive intelligence would probably give them a passing grade when it comes to outwitting man. Marinites alternately try to poison, trap, gas and drown the little fellows, but their lawns are still made lumpy by the little burrowing creatures. And many can recall seeing a favorite plant descending into a gopher hole.

There's no closed season on gophers, but the rascals thrive.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

Democrats Stirring Again As 1968 Campaigns Get Underway

By WAT TAKESHITA

Takeshita

The Democrats were dazed and disillusioned after being knocked for a loop last November.

Still somewhat disjointed, they are nevertheless showing some signs of life.

Tonight at 8, they're scheduled to host Assemblyman John Burton of San Francisco to hear about Sacramento and Vietnam. The place: New Unitarian-Universalist Church, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael. (Terra Linda turnoff to Professional Center Parkway to Channing.)

NEXT FRIDAY, a Marin Democratic women's delegation, headed by Olive Lewis, will attend a Northern California conference in Sacramento on "Health, Education and Welfare — Can the Legislature Save These Programs?"

Hotel El Dorado will be the meeting place for panel discussions and luncheon with legislative leaders. Former Governor Brown will participate in one of the panels.

AT 8 P.M. THAT same night, June 9, the Conference for New Politics will sponsor a discussion at Olney Hall, College of Marin. Scheduled speakers include Nancy Swadesh of Tiburon; John Thorne, San Jose attorney, and Robert Avakian of Berkeley, writer for Ramparts.

Mrs. William Duffin of Larkspur, chairman, announced that the discussion theme will be "While we wait for '68." She is looking for another speaker, a Republican who might be in sympathy with her group's opposition to the Vietnam war.

MARIN REPUBLICAN Council is using a new tack to attract younger members into its fold. President Harry Diner announced that MRC is offering a special reduced membership fee for young adults in the 21 to 29 age group.

With the 1968 elections around the corner, prospective candidates are quietly making the rounds to sound out their prospects, line up support, and send up trial balloons.

Some of the decisions will depend on how the Congressional reapportionment will divide up Congressman Don Clausen's First District (Marin to Del Norte). If Marin winds up outside Clausen's jurisdiction, then Assemblyman William Bagley might be induced to run for Congress. That would create a mad scramble for the Assembly post.

SAN RAFAEL PUBLICIST Price Hall is being urged by friends to try for public office — maybe the Assembly?

Tom Skornia of Ross, attorney and part-time newspaper columnist, who's had his eye on the Legislature or Congress, may settle for a fling at the county supervisor's job — against Ernest Kettenhofen.

And there's rumor that Michael Healy of San Geronimo might test his political wings by running against Supervisor Thomas T. Storer.

Bert Corona, former superintendent of San Rafael schools, is doing a big job of organizing. As president of the 11,000-member statewide Mexican-American Political Association, he has announced plans to expand the group into a national body, whose "voice could be heard" in the 1968 elections.

WE STAND corrected on one of the statements made last week about William Penn Patrick. The cosmetics manufacturer assures us that he started Holiday Magic in San Rafael with no financial help from the backers of Sierra National Bank or from anyone else. "Backers of Sierra National have not put one penny into Holiday Magic," declared Patrick.

Music Festival Coverage—Bad

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Over a week has passed since the San Rafael Schools' Music Festival (May 21). Other than a factual article listing the award winners, I noticed no further mention of this stirring production. How can a newspaper pass over such an excellent performance without even extending one of its usual "bouquets" for a job well done?

Much news space was used last week to play up such a happening as the expected throngs at the Mt. Tam campout. Wouldn't it have been exciting to see the same space on page one devoted to the standing-room-only crowd at the music festival, the high school gym filled with 700 youngsters sweating out their best in music? Do we really take all this work for granted each year? Those music instructors and young musicians deserve many praises!

I am one parent who is very grateful to be in a school district that offers such rare opportunity for its youth. I am only sorry that the city's one newspaper did not publicly grant these musicians at least a small "Thank you."

Mill Valleyans: Pass Those Bonds

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Vote "Yes" on bonds.

Mill Valley prides itself on being an enlightened community in one of the loveliest settings in the world. Many of its citizens are leaders in the professions, in business, and in the arts. Yet Mill Valley's children today are underprivileged — they do not have schools adequate to prepare them for the higher education which they need and deserve. The bond issue to be voted on June 13 must pass. Our children must be given a chance in this turbulent world.

I salute the "rational" voter who wants the perfect plan, detailed financial analysis and a pleasing tax picture. Regrettably we live in a rapidly changing, very imperfect world. Our children need schools now. Should the bond issue fail the children's time will be lost, there will be double sessions, more crowding, less learning, less opportunity — and building costs will continue to rise. Must we always do too little and too late for our children and charge it to a "rational, businesslike" attitude?

I am quite happy to give some leeway to our newly elected school board and to our fine new superintendent in the rapid development of new facilities, and to provide them with the money and opportunity to build schoolrooms now, before building costs increase further. Vote yes on bonds on June 13.

James Bond's Beautiful Secretary Can't Type Or Take Dictation

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's best known secretary can't type well — and doesn't know shorthand at all.

"Oh, no, I can't take dictation," said Lois Maxwell, her green eyes smiling through a mist of auburn hair. "And I can type only on an Italian typewriter, because I don't seem quite able to find the keys on an English machine.

"I'm afraid the only thing I could do well in a business office would be to answer the door and take someone's coat."

Actually, Miss Maxwell is an actress, and a very good one. But she has won such screen fame as Miss Moneypenny, the slender, beautiful, superefficient secretary in the James Bond spy pictures starring Sean Connery, that the role threatens to submerge her own identity.

LOIS HAS been in five of the films, based on the late Ian Fleming's espionage novels. The latest is "You Only Live Twice."

The series has made Lois something of a heroine to secretaries all over the world.

"Most girls who get involved with Bond either die or meet what used to be called a fate worse than death," she remarked. "But not Miss Moneypenny.

"I get many amusing letters from secretaries saying, 'You won't ever nip off with that naughty James Bond, will you?'

"Well, on or off the screen" — she laughed — "There is little likelihood of that."

Miss Maxwell is married to Peter Marriott, managing director of National Broadcasting Co. International in London. They have two children.

BORN IN Toronto — her father was a schoolteacher, her mother a nurse — she became a childhood radio star in Canada. Then at 15, she ran away from home, fibbed about her age, joined an entertainment unit of the Canadian army and was shipped to London.

"When my real age was discovered," she said, "They were going to send me back home. So I went AWOL."

When military authorities caught up with her, she was enrolled in the Royal Academy of Art. Lady Louis Mountbatten persuaded them to let her remain in England as her ward.

In the years since then Lois worked as a photographer's model, acted on the London stage, and made some 20 films there and in Hollywood and Rome.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

LEGEND HAS IT that Jascha Heifetz once endeavored to give a scheduled concert in Boston despite the fact that a great blizzard had been raging for twelve hours. As a result exactly 28 intrepid souls showed up in a hall whose 2,500 seats had been sold out long in advance.

Heifetz addressed the brave 28: "I'm deeply appreciative that you folks turned out, but under the circumstances, we're cancelling the recital. Your money will be refunded at the box office." All but one of the audience reluctantly headed for the exits. The lone lingerer called out, "Just a minute, Mr. Heifetz. I'm a great music lover. I drove thirty miles through snow drifts eight feet high to hear you tonight. Won't you sing just one song for me?"

AFTER 22 YEARS in the U.S. Senate, Massachusetts' doughty Leverett Saltonstall has retired from the fray — his national reputation secure for all time. The Senator vividly recalls his first day on the job in Washington in 1945. His very first piece of mail was a postcard addressed to "Hon. L. Saltonstall, S.O.B." The Senator's ire was rising rapidly until an aide pointed out that in this instance at least, the "S.O.B." meant "Senate Office Building."

GOP Backing The Poverty War To Limit, But Hits Shriver

WASHINGTON — The American people are making no mistake in giving their strong support to the war on poverty.

Voters are 60 per cent behind the war on poverty and want it continued or expanded, the Harris survey shows.

Public support has been growing steadily for the last seven months.

THE NATION as a whole has come to accept the war on poverty as one of the most compassionate, human, and intelligent programs of the Johnson administration.

And the Republican leadership in Congress, launching its own "Opportunity Crusade," avows that it favors all of the anti-poverty programs and backs all of the anti-poverty goals — but would do the whole thing differently.

Surely all this should be sweet music to the White House and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

WHY, THEN, as he goes to Congress soon to defend his proposed budget, should Sargent Shriver, the coordinator-in-chief of the war on poverty, be the target of so much criticism for his administration of the program? Has he been a flop? Has he been incompetent? Has he been a dull-minded and routine administrator?

No one will argue, certainly not Shriver, that everything has come up roses in the Office of Economic Opportunity. But the volume and sharpness of the Republican attacks on the OEO, to the point that it ought to be closed out and the programs sprinkled around the already overburdened Washington bureaucracy, are excessive and ill-considered. These facts ought to be borne in mind:

MUCH OF THE criticism comes from the extremists who pretty much cancel each other out — those who attack Shriver because they don't want the war on poverty to be doing anything and those who want Shriver to be asking for ten times as much as he is now doing. To each Shriver is the enemy, though in fact Shriver is the best friend the war on poverty has.

The OEO has made mistakes. They should be recognized and corrected. The new anti-poverty bill now before Congress greatly tightens the program.

But the OEO had to do things quickly in its early period and obviously it has not done them all well. But let's not forget that if there were no OEO there would be no war on poverty. There would be no Head Start. There would be no Job Corps. There would be no Community Action and, above all, there would be little recognition on the part of middle-class America that poverty in the United States acutely exists — 32,000,000 men, women, and children beneath the poverty line who must be relieved.

AND WITHOUT the OEO there would be no single strong voice raised in behalf of the poor, no single government enterprise devoted solely to the multiple problems of the poor, no one place the poor can call their own when they want to protest an injustice or an inequity in the life of their community.

Finally, with public support for the war on poverty growing, it is politically tempting to play both sides of the street — praise the goals and attack their administration.

There is no doubt in my mind that the war on poverty continues to need innovative, pioneering, open-minded, let's-try leadership. It would be very unwise to bury these new and experimental programs in existing departments which have more than they can do already and too many officials wedded to old programs.

THESE ARE THE reasons I think it is a mistake for the Republicans — all of whom don't agree — to tie their support for the anti-poverty programs to getting rid of coordinated control. Coordinated control ought to be strenghtened, not weakened.

Kremlin's Mideast Policy Is Alarming

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Kremlin's manipulation of the Middle East crisis has been outlined to the House Foreign Affairs Committee in a closed door briefing by Central Intelligence Agency authorities. authorities.

The lawmakers were told that Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko had arranged to have Nasser mine the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba when he visited Cairo in mid-April.

After the CIA briefing, Rep. Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman, warned:

"THE RUSSIANS are deliberately staging a diversionary crisis in the Middle East to try to tie our hands in Vietnam. There are signs that the Kremlin is planning to set off other crises."

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., who on May 3 predicted a Russian diversionary move in the Middle East, joined in warning of still more Soviet-inspired trouble.

In discussions with fellow members of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Jackson reported growing evidence the Russians may touch off a new crisis in either West Berlin or Cuba.

A JAPANESE businessman, returning via the U.S. from trade talks in Havana, supports Senator Jackson's concern about Cuba. In information passed to the CIA, this industrialist quoted a high Cuban official as saying the U.S. will be forced to give up the naval base at Guatanamo Bay before the end of 1967.

On the foreign front, it has been reported, ships for an enlarged Saudi Arabian navy will be purchased from Britain. At present, this pro-U.S. nation's navy is confined mainly to patrol boats for coastguard duties. But because of the changing Middle East situation, Saudi Arabia plans to buy several corvettes, minesweepers, and frigates.

THE FRENCH government, which has been looking for some time for new sources of uranium, is now negotiating for a concession in Nigeria. The deposits are reported to be 10 times bigger than those of Gabon, where France has obtained much of its supplies until now. France has small deposits of uranium on her own territory, but needs much more for her growing nuclear arms program.

On the war the Army now has six and one-third divisions in Vietnam, plus a number of independent units of regimental size. Two divisions are in Korea and five in Europe. There are about four and two-thirds Army divisions in the central strategic reserve in the U.S., plus brigades and battalions.

But of these units few except the 82d Air Force division are ready for immediate combat. The First and Second Armored divisions and Fifth Mechanized division have been training replacements for Vietnam for the past 18 months.

Of the five Army divisions alerted for possible invasion of Cuba during the 1962 missile crisis, four are now in Vietnam. Only the 82d Air Force would be available among Army divisions if a new Cuban crisis should develop.

Give A Shout, Your Plans May Get In Project 17 Area

The preliminary sketch plan of the school and recreation facility to be developed in Mill Valley's Project 17 area is a wondrous and magic thing — just shout a little, and it is changed to suit your personal needs.

Last week, for example, a local horseman objected to exclusion of the existing horse ring from the plan. The ring was "necessary to a complete recreation facility," he declared. That night, he was told it might be better "to relocate the ring to some other park."

THIS WEEK, however, another plan was produced which includes the existing horse ring.

One can only expect a similar response, apparently, when local gunmen demand that space be provided for a range. They, too, could argue that guns are an essential ingredient of recreation. At least their need for space would be more modest than that which would be demanded by stock car racers.

It may be blasphemous in Mill Valley to suggest that the city has no business giving up extremely valuable public land for an activity enjoyed by a small number of its more affluent citizens, but it seems there must be a higher use of the land.

A preliminary sketch plan is not meant to be the last word, but the ease with which changes are made suggests an effort to lull voters with mutually exclusive promises.

LAST WEEK'S report that Mill Valley City Councilman Dean ("Keep Mill Valley Green") Meyer was suffering from allergies to oak trees and grass brought him the following note from a reader:

There was a young politican named Dean,/ who was oh so PRO green,/ 'till they planted an oak,/ at a place where he spoke,/ now he is ANTI-histamine.

THE ABRUPT decision of the newspaper staff at Tamalpais High to change the name of the school paper from "The Tam News" to "The Peace Pipe" caught the administration by surprise.

Principal Robert H. Prather said students from the staff had interviewed him recently about the proposed change, and that he had roundly denounced the idea. "I thought they'd come back after a while and discuss it," he said.

But they didn't; they just went ahead and made the change. Prather, who helped print the paper when he was a student there in the 1930s, noted sadly that the old name had been in use since 1908.

THE "NEW" PAPER trades lightly on the hippies' interest in Indian culture and in smoking something more groovy than tobacco, and has an article on how to avoid the draft, but its emphasis remains on more conventional school activities.

School officials were uneasy to find that they have less than effective control over the school paper, but are reluctant to exercise their undoubted right to decide what is fit to print. Too heavy a hand in controling the paper, they reason, may encourage development of an "underground" paper."

It's a delicate balance being struck between the paper's staff and the administration. A school newspaper is a teaching device, after all, not a platform for a minority of rebels.

Even The Nation's Doves Get Upset In Time Of Big Crisis

WASHINGTON — This has been a bad week for the doves and the hawks. Nasser's decision to close the Gulf of Aqaba to Israel has made hawks out of doves and doves out of hawks. The doves of the past want the United States to act immediately, and the hawks of Vietnam want us to cool it in the Middle East.

Even my friend Brinkerhoff, a devout pacifist, was in turmoil. When I saw him this week end he was sticking a knife into a photograph of Nasser and screaming "Kill! Kill!"

"BRINKERHOFF, HOW can you talk that way when you've been one of the leading advocates of peace in the world?"

"I'm still for peace in the world, but you'll never have it with that dirty rat Nasser in the Middle East. Kill!"

"Now, wait a minute, Brinkerhoff. If you're going to be a pacifist, you can't be going around screaming 'kill,' and stabbing photos of Nasser in the newspapers."

"That's how much you know about pacifists."

"Let me ask you this, Brinkerhoff. Would you advocate the use of force to reopen the Gulf of Aqaba to international shipping?"

"ONLY IF WE bomb Cairo first," Brinkerhoff said.

"But you're against bombing. Don't you remember, Brinkerhoff?"

"Stop telling me what I was against. Ask me what I'm for."

"All right, what are you for?"

"Blowing up the Aswan Dam, B-52 raids on the Suez Canal and the complete defoliation of Jordan."

"If I didn't know you better, Brinkerhoff, I would think you've become a hawk."

"I'm not a hawk. I'm a dove who's lost his temper. I say there's only one solution to the Middle East crisis, and that's to escalate. Egypt must be made to pay for its aggression."

"BUT, BRINKERHOFF, the hawks in the United States say the matter should be settled peacefully in the United Nations."

"The hawks are chicken. The United Nations can't settle anything. The only thing the Arabs understand is force. We should nuke 'em."

"Nuke 'em?"

"Give 'em a taste of nuclear weapons and let's see what big shots they are then."

"But, Brinkerhoff, you marched in a parade three weeks ago carrying a sign which said 'Live and let ilve'."

"I wasn't talking about Nasser and those Syrians. Besides, the United States has a commitment to Israel and they should honor it."

"DO YOU THINK the United States should go it alone if nobody else wants to help?"

"You bet your sweet life they should go it alone. I say bomb them back to the stone age."

"Brinkerhoff, you sound like Barry Goldwater."

What's wrong with Goldwater? At least he knows what a bunch of dirty double-crossers the Russians are."

"Then you think we should stand up to the Russians on the question of the Middle East?"

"The hell with standing up to the Russians. Let's nuke 'em."

"I wish you wouldn't keep saying that, Brinkerhoff. It doesn't sound like you."

"YOU HAVEN'T HEARD anything yet," he said. "You know my son Herbert, the one who said he was going to be a draft dodger?"

"Yes. What about him?"

"Well, he's joining the U.S. Marine Corps. He says if we don't stop the Commies in the Middle East, we'll be fighting on the beaches of Coney Island."

"He said that?"

"Why do you look so surprised?" Brinkerhoff said. "Haven't you ever heard of the Domino Theory?"

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Route 17 Not For Marinites; Central Corridor Idea Hit

Fusselman

I would like to start today's column with personal congratulations to Dr. John Canoles and his gentle, gracious lady on their 50th wedding anniversary. It doesn't seem so long ago that a tall, flaming-red-haired young Reverend climbed out of his Model T coupe to shake hands and tell me of his projected trip to Edinburgh to study.

My friend, you have been and are a wonderful credit to your calling and to the community. Many hundreds will join me in this.

Now, suppose we set up the problem of Route 17.

It originates in the East Bay — comes across the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and almost immediately finds itself within the city limits of San Rafael at the eastern perimeter and flows along to join Highway 101 at a point just north of the San Quentin overpass.

IT WAS AUTHORIZED by the legislature for the purpose of carrying traffic bound from the East Bay to the coastal areas of West Marin, including the National Seashore. It was never intended as a solution of Marin's commuting problem.

For an extended foreseeable future it isn't required to furnish Marin County's people access to those coastal areas. Southern Marin residents and visitors from San Francisco have the Panoramic and Shoreline highways. Folks in central Marin, extending from the Alto-Corte Madera hill ridges to White Hill, have Sir Francis Drake through San Geronimo Valley and Samuel P. Taylor Park district. Northern Marin (in general the Novato area) has easy access to the Petaluma-Point Reyes Highway.

SO ONCE AGAIN, I say that when Zucker, Behr and Kettenhofen urge that the routing of 17 be through the central corridor, they are completely outside their official authority.

In the case of San Rafael, it is hard to believe that any council of that city could consent to the devastation to homes, businesses and already constructed inter-city streets. (Which are working extremely well). The San Anselmo and Fairfax authorities have expressed strong opposition to any such destructive routing.

As a side observation on Ross Valley originating commute traffic, this I believe, is the situation. I have driven over to 101 numerous times during commute hours, both morning and evening, to watch the traffic.

This is what anyone would find:

Usually, in the morning, even though it may be crowded on Sir Francis Drake, the jam-up becomes really bad from the Greenbrae intersection south. In the evening, traffic is tight all the way to Novato.

This can be verified daily if one will tune in Lou Hurley broadcasting from his Hurley-bird on traffic conditions. It follows then that there would be little material benefit for Ross Valley drivers to get to 101 sooner.

LOOKING INTO the future; with the larger lot sizes being required and the questionable safety, even with careful engineering, of hill-side building (all over the Bay Area) there will not be the same rate of population increase through the central area.

A few years ago I stood on a high point north of Sleepy Hollow, where there is a magnificant view in all directions. Anyone doing the same will be convinced that the indicated route should be slightly south of the Lucas Valley Road. Grades can be achieved as they were on 101 south of San Rafael and at the Alto Hill.

I WILL elaborate on this next week.

Program Gets Headquarters

Directors of Gallinas Village Community Services District Wednesday authorized two-month rental of a house at 816 Hacienda Way, three doors from Descanso Way Park, for headquarters for the district's summer tiny tot program, district secretary Marguerite Clark reported.

Four neighbors appeared to oppose the use, Mrs. Clark said, but a letter from the county counsel's office was read saying the use did not conflict with building and zoning codes.

The district will pay $126 a month starting June 19 to Mrs. Mattie Daniels, owner of the home.

Sailing, Canoe Class Slated

Sailing and canoeing classes will be offered by the American Red Cross at the Civic Center lagoon June 19 to 30.

A pre-requisite swimming test will be given June 10 at 1 p.m. at Tamalpais High School and June 18 at Terra Linda Recreation District Pool.

Minimum age is 12 for the course, which includes 14 hours of instruction and a Russian River canoe trip. Registration may be made through Mrs. Dan Beittel of 675 Bargerry Lane, San Rafael.

New Politics Conclave Set At College

A meeting titled "While We Wait for '68," to discuss the Vietnam war and alternatives to President Johnson's candidacy in 1968, will be sponsored at 8 p.m. next Friday at Olney Hall, College of Marin, by the Marin County Conference for New Politics.

A panel discussion will be followed by a question period and public debate.

Panelists will be John Thorne of San Jose, California Democratic Council member who attended Bertrand Russell's mock war crimes trial in Stockholm; Mrs. Nancy Swadesh of Tiburon, of Americans for Democratic Action, and Robert Avakian of Berkeley, Ramparts magazine writer. Don Rothernberg, northern director for Californians for Liberal Representation, will moderate. Phillip Drath will welcome the audience.

Newark Firm Gets Portable Library

Modulux Corp. of Newark, Alameda County, was apparent lower bidder yesterday on a portable building to be used as a library at Marin's Juvenile Hall, with an offer of $2,000 a year rental.

Only other bidder was Speedspace Corp. of Santa Rosa with an offer of $2,064 a year rental. County supervisors are expected to award the contract Tuesday.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Boardwalk Restaurant Is New; Sand Dollar Has A Fine Menu

A new restaurant has opened on the Belvedere Boardwalk on Tiburon Boulevard — and appropriately it is known simply as the Boardwalk Restaurant.

This is the location of the former Neville's. Ted and R. H. (Bing) Weitzel have taken over, dressed up the place, put Jimmie Wong in as manager and chef and are on a seven-days-a-week schedule. There is breakfast, lunch and dinner (closed on holidays). Hours are from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

It is a family place, and you will find regular high chairs provided for children. Merchant lunches are from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Dinner menu includes New York steaks, filet Mignon, usually four or five seafood dishes. The house specialty is prime rib at $1.95 (king size portion is $2.75) with baked potato and soup or salad.

The dining room has been improved, with better non-glare lighting. And you may find some artwork on the walls by this weekend.

There should be a wine and beer license in about two weeks.

The location was formerly occupied by Farallon East, but it has been remodeled. The operation is different.

If you have ever eaten at the Glad Hand in Sausalito and enjoyed it you should like the Sand Dollar which has the same owners, Al Engel and Bob Hanlon. The food is up to Glad Hand standards.

Dinners are served Thursdays through Sundays from 5 p.m. until 10 p.m. Thursdays and Sundays, a little later Fridays and Saturdays. The bar opens at 4 p.m. Dinners are priced from $2.95 to $5.75, with chicken, lobster and steaks the main choices.

THERE IS a new musical group at Two Bells, San Rafael, Friday and Saturday nights, called the New Town Squires. The foursome plays organ, bass, drums and trumpet for dancing and dinner. Hours are from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Lunches are popular, and are served Mondays through Fridays. The bar is open Monday night but the dining room is not. Two Bells is closed Sundays. Dinner nights are Tuesdays through Saturdays. The menu includes prime rib (from the cart) and broiled chicken, steak and lobster.

ENRICO'S in Fairfax, closed Monday through Thursday this week for an extended holiday, opened again today. There is the same delicious and popular Italian menu selections: Veal scallopini, parmigiana, ravioli and heaping plates of spaghetti.

A "FAMILY DINNER PLAN" is being offered at Jean's Kitchen in Ross by Jean Dobson from 5 to 9 p.m., seven days a week—a choice of fried chicken, top sirloin or roast beef, with ravioli or spaghetti, vegetable, salad, toasted French garlic bread and coffee, at $3.95. This is for two adults or more. Children's portion is half price.

Commuters and other business people who may not be able to get breakfast at home in the morning may find it convenient to eat at Jean's. Service is from 7 to 9 a.m. throughout the week. Daily lunches are from $1 to $1.50.

JEAN JOAQUIN
Makes food discovery

IF YOU DRIVE up the coast to the mouth of the Russian River, a good place to stop for breakfast, lunch or dinner is River's End at Jenner. You probably should make dinner reservations.

River's End is a resort with a nice view of river and ocean and it has been a Jenner landmark for 37 years. The complex consists of restaurant, four two-bedroom cabins and a private beach with barbecue and boat launching facilities. It is owned by Willard and Katherine Briscoe of San Rafael.

Recently returned to the Jenner area after an absence of seven years as River's End manager is Dorothy Auld. She was once manager of the old Bridgehaven restaurant at Jenner that was destroyed by fire in 1959.

THE MAN who doesn't believe there's something new in preparing food has no imagination.

Some day soon you are going to see a new product introduced to store shelves, and probably to some restaurant menus, that represents years of work and experimentation on the part of a Marin County chef.

Jean Joaquin of Fairfax is not unknown in high food circles. In recent years he has not been mentioned as frequently in this column as when he officiated at several Marin restaurants. He has served at top hotels and restaurants in San Francisco and some of the better clubs while continuing food research. He is volatile, European and temperamental — but he knows his profession. Anyone fortunate enough to be trained in his kitchen is likely to make his own name in cooking.

For years Jean has been convinced there should be a way to duplicate abalone on the dinner table by using other seafoods at less cost. He wanted the original flavor, superficial appearance, fibrous texture and cooking characteristics. In his experiments he probably has learned more about the biological structure of the abalone than any other food man. But nature jealously guarded her secrets, and one trial after another failed.

Jean says the formula for success came to him as he slept one night. The idea jolted him awake. From that point the procedure was purely one of routine skill. His secret is closely protected and patented, but he claims that he can baffle the experts with his product and real abalone. The similarity is pronounced even before cooking.

Negotiations are now under way with one of the large food companies to get into production, and a trade name will be decided upon.

COURT RULES CHEF ALLOWED TO NIP A BIT

ROME (UPI) — It's no crime if a restaurant chef drinks a lot of his boss' wine while cooking a Rome judge ruled.

The judge dismissed criminal charges the restaurant owner filed against Ippolito Mazza, his chef, two years ago. Mazza's defense lawyer argued that the chef "didn't drink the wine for personal profit but rather to perform his duties — which includes preparing food and beverages for customers—better."

Marine Given Jail Sentence

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A former Marine, convicted in 1964 of resisting arrest and using force against a peace officer who evicted him from his home, has been ordered to jail for six months.

Steve Anthony, 37, whose home was demolished to make way for a motion picture museum that never was built, was taken into custody at the county courthouse.

His attorney said he would make a last-ditch request for a writ of habeas corpus from the U.S. Supreme Court. All other avenues of appeal have been exhausted.

Kingston Trio Sets Final Stage Concert

On Monday the Kingston Trio will start a two-week stand at San Francisco's Hungry I. It will be the final stage appearance for the trio, which has been one of the world's most famous pop singing groups for a decade.

San Francisco is the appropriate place for the trio to wrap it up. After starting in a Palo Alto student hangout, they polished their act for months at the Purple Onion before their first big hit, "Tom Dooley," launched their skyrocket in 1958.

ALL MARINITES

The trio, their managers and bassist are all Marin County residents, and may spend more time in Marin with the group's final curtain.

Nick Reynolds, who lives in Sausalito, plans to build and race cars with Nade Bourgeault of Mill Valley, operator of Bourgeault Racing Cars, Inc.

Bob Shane, a longtime Shetland pony fancier, maintains a home in Sausalito and another at his ranch at Roswell, Ga. He plans a long rest with his wife, who is expecting their third child, and then may try solo appearances.

John Stewart of Mill Valley will stay in music, teaming up with Henry Diltz of the Modern Folk Quartet to form a new group. Steward replaced Dave Guard in the trio in 1961.

The fourth on-stage member of the trio, bassist Dean Reilly, is a San Anselmo resident. A versatile musician who has been with the trio five years, Reilly plans to continue performing in the Bay Area with other groups and may give music lessons.

The trio still has a recording contract and all four musicians will take part in the recording sessions. The records will probably be cut at the Columbus Tower in North Beach, which houses Trident Productions, one of the trio's corporate offspring.

THE START

The trio's manager, Frank Werber, lives in Mill Valley, and road manager George Yanok is a Sausalitan.

It was Werber who found the trio playing in Palo Alto and brought it to San Francisco. He coached the members constantly while their engagement at the Purple Onion stretched out into seven months.

"They still practice what Werber taught them," Yanok said. "They owe everything to Werber."

Everything includes the million dollars a year the trio has earned in concert appearances, plus a variety of show business and real estate spinoffs.

VAST HOLDINGS

The trio owns or has a hand in Trident Productions, Columbus Recordings, the Trident Restaurant in Sausalito, the Little Fox Theater in San Francisco and various real estate holdings.

The trio also has 21 record albums, eight of which have sold more than a million copies. The albums continue to sell briskly and will continue to be a steady source of income.

The Kingston Trio was the first group to make a big-time success of popularizing and commercializing folk music. Their "sound" is folk-based, but the trio rejects the folk singer label. They say they sing popular music, some of it folk music.

Whatever the label, the trio was a major influence in the revival of folk music in recent years, and thereby collateral ancestors of more recent performers such as Bob Dylan and the Jefferson Airplane.

Items Being Gathered For Viet Children

Students at 20 Marin County schools are producing nearly 200 bags of new educational, recreational and health items for children in Vietnamese refugee camps.

The program, sponsored by the Marin County Chapter of the American Red Cross, has been under way about two months, and so far 165 bags have been sent to San Francisco for transportation to Vietnam, said Mrs. Dorothy Trenam, yough director.

The gifts included such items as stuffed animals, head scarves, tooth brushes and soap. The pupils have to make the cloth bags themselves and they are designed to be used by Vietnamese children for carrying books to school.

"We are sure many more schools would like to take part in the program but not all have the facilities for making the bags," said Mrs. Trenam.

The school has a policy against disclosing the vote in elections.

Pleas Slated For Inmates

Five San Quentin inmates, arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on escape charges, were to enter pleas this afternoon.

Judge Peter Allen Smith appointed the public defender's office to represent them.

Philip Banditson, Royal Sloan, and Edward Kern are accused of escaping March 23 from the iminmum security prison farm. They were caught in McMinnville, Ore., March 27.

Ernest E. Little and Richard Henry Smith fled the prison's ranch dormitory Dec. 4. Little was caught by Las Vegas, Nev., police on May 14. Smith was apprehended in Dallas, Tex., on April 26.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Burning Boats Behind You Not Good Policy At The Table

Opening lead — ♠ 5

South won the first trick with the ace of spades, cashed the ace of clubs and tried a club finesse.

East won with the queen of clubs and thought things over.

It was possible that West had led the five of spades from K-7-5, but if South had only one spade stopper why had he won the first trick?

Even more important, how could South have a jump to two notrump without the king of spades?

These ruminations led East to the correct conclusion: South still had the king of spades.

If so, East could count nine tricks for declarer: two spades, two hearts and five clubs.

ONLY CHANCE

The only chance was to shift to hearts in the hope that South could be separated from his king of spades.

And so it turned out.

South could take eight tricks but could never get to his hand for the king of spades.

Declarer should make the contract by correct play.

East wins with the queen of clubs and returns a heart to dummy's king.

South returns to his hand with the ace of clubs to cash the ace of spades. Then he can get back to dummy with the ace of hearts to take the rest of the clubs.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You cannot be sure that you will be better off at two hearts than your partner at one notrump.

Let sleeping dogs lie unless you get doubled at notrump, in which case you will run to two hearts for some kind of safety.

ROCK 'N' PROTEST

Guitarist Alex Call, a former College of Marin student, and a band called the Tiny Hearing Aid Company entertained College of Marin students following speeches against the Vietnam War by faculty and students at a war protest rally yesterday at the college. Movie Projector Not Found, Teens Freed

Two teen-agers brazenly confronted a school counselor, then carried off a movie projector from the auto-visual classroom of Tamalpais High School Wednesday, sheriff's officers disclosed today.

The counselor, Charles Crawford, told deputies he saw the pair carrying the projector to their car about 11:30 a.m. He said he approached them, but they informed him the machine was their own.

Crawford, still suspicious, reported the matter to officers and two youths answering their descriptions were halted shortly afterward by deputies on Tiburon Boulevard. No projector was found in the car, according to the report, and the two were released after questioning.

Crawford described the first pair as Negroes about 18 years old.

Burglars also entered John MacPhail School, Santa Venetia apparently through improperly locked front doors, officers said. They then jimmied a locked office door, ransacked desk drawers and forced open a filing cabinet. Nothing was believed taken. Entry was discovered Wednesday by a custodian.

Donald Stumpf of Construction Supply Corp., 15 East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Greenbrae, told deputies someone entered through an open office window Tuesday to loot a desk of a small amount of cash. Taken from another room were 12 new pocket knives, six sheet rock knives, and a hack saw, he said.

Beatrice Ann Dimple, 141 Crown Road, Kent Woodlands, reported Wednesday that burglars entered her unlocked garage during the past several days, making off with a $15 wheelbarrow.

Lorin McNear Jr., of L. P. McNear Brick Co., McNear's Point, told deputies Wednesday someone entered the office, jimmied a soft drink machine and stole about $10 from it.

Binoculars Stolen

A gold-jacketed customer in his 20s apparently stole four pair of binoculars worth $271, from a counter in the jewelry department of the Mac Disco Department Store at 555 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, yesterday while a salesman was out of sight on the telephone, police said.

Murderer Convicted In Re-trial

STOCKTON (UPI) —Thomas LeRoy Teale, 39, was ordered back to San Quentin Prison's death row today following his second conviction on charges of robbery and murder.

A jury of eight women and four men found him guilty last night after 16 hours of deliberation in the trial before Superior Judge Robert P. Sullivan.

Teale was first sentenced to death April, 1963, for slaying Billy Dean Adcock, 39, a Lodi bartender, on Oct. 18, 1962. His codefendant, Mrs. Ruth Elizabeth Chapman, now 44, also was sentenced to death.

Both convictions were reversed by the U. S. Supreme Court in February, 1967. Teale was at San Quentin Prison while Mrs. Chapman was held at Corona.

Mrs. Chapman will appear for her second trial next Tuesday before Judge Sullivan. Her court - appointed attorney Richard Johnson, has asked for a change in venue on grounds the Teale trial may have prejudiced her case.

Pentagon Axes Reserve, National Guard Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department today announced a drastic new streamlining of the Army National Guard and Army Reserve which would eliminate nearly 1,300 units.

The Pentagon contended that the controversial reoganization —the third in six years—will "improve significantly the early deployment capability and combat readiness of the United States Army's reserve forces."

It appeared certain to stir up another quarrel between Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and congressional sponsors of the citizen-soldier forces.

At the same time, Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor disclosed that the Pentagon is considering a change in policy under which a man who has completed two years of active service as a draftee will not necessarily be assigned to a reserve unit for the additional four years of his military obligation.

The net effect of the streamlining would be to produce eight National Guard combat divisions and 18 guard brigades with a goal of readiness for deployment within eight weeks of call-up.

This means the elimination of 15 Army National Guard divisions which are now at about half strength, plus four Army Reserve brigades.

The remainder of the units to be eliminated as surplus to military requirements are company-size elements.

The total strength of the National Guard Reserve will drop from the presently authorized 678,500 to 640,000—a reduction of about 38,000. Much of this will be absorbed through attrition.

In each of the states which will lose a division there will still be at least one brigade at 90 per cent of full combat strength.

The Guard divisions which will be abolished include the 40th Armored and 49th Infantry of California.

Home Group Plans Membership Drive

The Sleepy Hollow Homes Association last night announced a two-week drive to boost membership from 250 families to 325, president Herbert A. Brauner reported.

The July 4 barbecue at the association clubhouse will include bicycle, foot and swimming races, Brauner said.

Why does a chimpanzee scratch? Not necessarily because he itches, ethologist Jane van Lawick-Goodall says. A chimp may scratch to show another chimp the part of his body he wants groomed.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Pregnant women are especially susceptible to backache because of the added strain brought on by the enlarging fetus. Pain that develops during the fourth or fifth month of pregnancy usually is due to faulty posture. Discomfort is noted on arising and reaches it height during the latter part of the day when the mother-to-be begins to tire. It subsides partially on lying flat on the back with the knees flexed.

Strain generally is produced by relaxation of the abdominal muscles as the uterus enlarges.

AS A RESULT, the spine arches more and there is a forward rotation of the pelvis. Women with backache should exercise during the day to strengthen the pelvic and abdominal muscles. But an equal amount of time must be spent at rest.

The exercise program begins by lying flat on the back with the knees flexed. Deep breathing is practiced to elevate the thorax which in turn helps improve posture.

Next, draw up one bent knee to the trunk and then the other. This stretches the tightened extensor muscles of the spine.

THEN THE HIPS are flexed and the alternate leg is raised until it points toward the ceiling. The last exercise increases abdominal muscle tone. Finally, with the knees flexed, raise the head and trunk slowly to assume an erect sitting position.

Relaxation is equally important because it gives strained muscles a rest. The easiest way to relax is to lie on the floor with the calves of the legs resting on the seat of a chair.

Lying on a firm mattress gives almost as much support if pillow is placed under the knees. In both instances, strain is removed from pelvic, abdominal, and back muscles.

This regimen, carried out two or three times a day, will prevent fatigue and tone up the muscles.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

MOOD DRUGS

S. R. writes: I would like to know the difference between a "depressant" and an "anti-depressant."

REPLY

A depressant quiets the individual and dulls the mind. Anti is a prefix signifying against, counter, opposite. An anti-depressant counteracts depression and medically speaking, is a stimulant or mood elevator.

FLASHES AFTER 60

A reader writes: Is it true that hot flashes and palpitation of the heart recur to some women after the age of 60?

Yes. Hot flashes may occur for more than a decade after the menopause and are not always caused by the change of life. Flashes are a nervous phenomenon and palpitation may be of similar origin.

HEART SYMPTOMS

N. F. writes: What are the symptoms of heart disease?

REPLY

Heart disease comes in various forms but in general the symptoms are palpitation, shortness of breath, cough, chest pain, indigestion, and swelling of the ankles.

PENICILLIN SENSITIVITY

D. N. writes: Is there a test to tell whether a person is allergic to penicillin before he takes it?

REPLY

Yes — the patch test, for example. Most individuals have used the antibiotic at least once before the allergy develops.

HEART TROUBLE

Mrs. B. B. writes: Can a child have heart failure?

REPLY

Yes. The organ may fail because of a congenital heart defect or as a result of an acquired infection such as rheumatic fever.

Runaway Girls In Juvenile Hall

Three 16-year-old runaway girls, two from Forestville and one from Santa Rosa, were arrested by police yesterday in Larkspur and taken to juvenile hall.

Sgt. Jerry Mattos noticed the three walking along Magnolia Avenue near Doherty Drive at 10:10 a.m. and questioned them. They told him they were runaways and had been in Larkspur since Sunday.

MARIN FILM FARE

'Hombre' Is Playing At Two Places Now

By LESLIE DARD

Let's see what's to see this fine weekend around Marin area movie theaters:

NORTHGATE AND SEQUOIA THEATERS

Now on screen at both theaters is "Hombre," a new Western that features Paul Newman.

He plays a young white man raised by Apaches. The story has him on a stagecoach where he saves the lives of his fellow passengers after an ambush.

Supporting characters carry considerable weight. There's Frederic March, a haughty Indian agent absconding with money meant to feed the Apache reservation; Martin Balsam as a Mexican stagedriver; and Richard Boone as a cruel and villainous stranger.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

The British lately have been distinguishing themselves in the field of fine espionage thrillers, and "The Triple Cross," now showing, is no exception.

Christopher Plummer, Romy Schneider, Trevor Howard and Gert Frobe star in a well-handled suspense tale.

NOVATO THEATER

Alfie is an irresponsible rogue whose code of morals consists of telling his birds (girls) that he has absolutely no honorable intentions, then proving it. But Alfie's tragic side emerges in a heart-rending climax.

MOTOR MOVIES

The story concerns the mission and crew of a small nuclear submarine that has been reduced to microbe size and injected into the bloodstream of a dying man. The party of doctors and technicians must fight their way through the body's defense systems (as well as a little human treachery) to the brain where they are to remove a blood clot with a laser beam.

101 DRIVE-IN

George Peppard and Ursula Andress star in "The Blue Max," a look at World War I through German eyes.

Peppard plays a young German pilot who is almost fantastically intent upon earning an airman's highest award — the blue enamel cross of the title.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Lynn Redgrave stars as "Georgy Girl," and manages to make it one of the year's most delightful shows. She is a girl whose large, awkward frame hides a sensitive, loving soul. She is always the bystander until one day kooky mod-type Alan Bates walks in one door of her life, and respectable and wealthy James Mason enters by another.

LARK THEATER

The deft cinematic hands of Michelangelo Antonioni have fashioned the perplexing and rewarding "Blowup," holding over.

It's all right to say that the film concerns a mod fashion photographer who confuses the world behind the lens of his mind with reality, or that it's about a mystery that is never solved and never needs to be, but no verbal description can do justice to the entire effort. Adults only.

FAIRFAX THEATER

If you've been putting off seeing Julie Andrews concocting her own brand of magic in "The Sound of Music," you'd better get moving — this is the final week.

RAFAEL THEATER

Two big Walt Disney shows from some years back are making the rounds again, much to everyone's delight. If the youngsters haven't seen "The Shaggy Dog" or "The Absent-Minded Professor," don't let this chance slip by.

The concert will conclude with "Symphony No. 4 in D Minor" by Robert Schumann.

Mary Frances Leonard, 40, mother of the 5-year-old heir of restaurateur Wyman F. (Bob) Campbell, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a misdeameanor charge of child neglect.

Court trial was scheduled for July 18.

Miss Leonard, of 206 Caledonia Street, Sausalito, was arrested May 24 in a Sausalito bar by police after the boy, Robert James Campbell, was found wandering alone near her home. He received the bulk of Campbell's estate of undetermined value, after Campbell's March 5, 1965 death.

Borrowing Voted

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District last night authorized borrowing $6,000 from Bank of America at 4.36 per cent on a three-year term to refinance the final payment on an improvement loan made five years ago, chairman Norman Gurin reported today.

Tam Student Will Go To Switzerland

Sylvia Hart, Tamalpais High School senior, has been selected by the American Field Service committee to spend next school year in Switzerland.

Sylvia, daughter of Mrs. Alice J. Hart, 22 Second Street, Sausalito, will attend the Toechtersch School in Zurich and live with the Ernst Schaufelberger family. Schaufelberg is director of the city's school for the blind. He has three daughters, Ruth, 19, Esther, 17, and Susanne, 12, who will be Sylvia's "sisters" during the year.

Sylvia also has been judged the most valuable member of the Tam News staff, on which she served this year as news editor. An "A" student, she is to receive life membership in the California Scholarship Federation and in Honor T, the Tamalpais High School district award for the best editorial, and the Edith Truesdale scholarship for $100.

Senator Stalls Appointment Of Reagan Nominee

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An appointment by Gov. Ronald Reagan to the state Coordinating Council for Higher Education has been rejected by the state Senate.

The Senate yesterday sent back to its Rules Committee for further study the nomination by Reagan of Dudley Swim, Carmel, president of National Airlines.

Asking the step was Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose.

"I want to know a little more about the guy," Alquist said. "He is alleged to have made some statements that if true wouldn't qualify him to sit on the board."

Alquist said Swim had been quoted as saying he was opposed to public education.

GOING OVER costume sketches for the Ballet Aquacade to be held on June 10, 11 at Peacock Gap Beach Club in San Rafael are, from left, Mesdames Leo Strauss, Ralston Hodgson and William Cuneo. Mrs. Strauss is ticket chairman for this year's event while Mrs. Hodgson is again serving as director and Mrs. Cuneo as costume mistress. Both Mesdames Hodgson and Cuneo have served in this capacity since the inception of the Ballet Aquacade 22 years ago.

(Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

Costuming The Water Show

What becomes of an Independent-Journal after it is read? Is it tossed out, its useful life over? "Not on a bet," says Mrs. William Cuneo, "It's extra width makes wonderful paper patterns for our Ballet Aquacade costumes." This amazing grandmother is costume mistress for the show taking place June 10 and 11 and has been for the past 22 years of its existence.

It all began when her daughter, Mrs. Robert Alvarado, then age four and one half and now assistant ballet mistress of the Aquacade, became a student at the Gladys Kinney Hodgson School of Ballet in San Anselmo. This is the school whose pupils, under Mrs. Ralston Hodgson's direction, participate in the Ballet Aquacade.

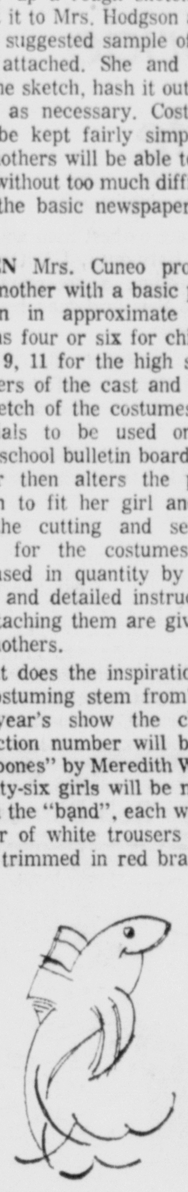
BY WHAT processes do Mrs. Cuneo and Mrs. Hodgson finally arrive at a costume for each number? "Once the three major sequences are chosen by Mrs. Hodgson," according to Mrs. Cuneo, "she gives me a list of her costume requirements. These are dedicated by the size of the girls and the movements they will be performing. Then I draw up a rough sketch and submit it to Mrs. Hodgson along with a suggested sample of material attached. She and I go over the sketch, hash it out, and revise as necessary. Costumes must be kept fairly simple so that mothers will be able to sew them without too much difficulty from the basic newspaper pattern."

THEN Mrs. Cuneo provides each mother with a basic paper pattern in approximate sizes such as four or six for children or, 7, 9, 11 for the high school members of the cast and posts the sketch of the costumes and materials to be used on the ballet school bulletin board. The mother then alters the paper pattern to fit her girl and begins the cutting and sewing. Trims for the costumes are purchased in quantity by Mrs. Cuneo and detailed instructions for attaching them are given to the mothers.

What does the inspiration for the costuming stem from? "In this year's show the closing production number will be "76 Trombones" by Meredith Wilson. Seventy-six girls will be marching in the "band", each wearing a pair of white trousers and a shirt trimmed in red braid and epaulettes; in this case the costumes were inspired by the musical of the same name." In the sprightly "Irish Fantasy," which is the "damatized story" sequence in this year's show, the National Geographic was a constant source of information on authenic Irish costumes for the villagers and colleens in the ballet.

"Challenges?", Mrs. Cuneo speaking. "Yes, I've had quite a few, but two mainly stand out in my memory. For the third Ballet Aquacade, I had to design a water lily that opened from a bud into full bloom when the dancer spread her arms wide. This was accomplished by sewing individual white petals together to form an oversized flower on a white dance leotard to be worn with green tights to simulate the stem of the lily. The number was called "The Mystic Pool" and I'll never forget it after the intricate sewing which the mothers and I had to do on 15 water lilies.

Another challenge was the "Autumn Episode" in 1967. The problem involved costuming four and five year old non-swimmers as ducklings who were to waddle by the side of the pool, then jump in and float on the water. In order to make them bouyant, I had constructed the costume over a child's inner tube! So that the costume itself wouldn't get waterlogged and pull the "Ducks" down, I made it of nylon net. You should have heard the squeals of delight from the audience when the duckling brigade took off into the water! They were the hit of the show."



FUTURE plans? "As long as the Ballet Aquacade is around I'll be working on costumes. I guess I've sort of become an institution along with Mrs. Hodgson and Ernie Smith." (Ernie Smith is the retired sportscaster residing in Glen Ellen who will again be master of ceremonies.)

Mesdames Leo Strauss and William Corrigan are reservations chairmen for the event to be held June 10, 11 at 2:30 p.m., both days, at Peacock Gap Beach Club in San Rafael.

The Aquacade benefits the Marindale School.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Neighbor's New Fence Placed With Sharp Pickets Menacing Children

DEAR HELEN:

I live in a new neighborhood with quite a few children under the age of six. My next door neighbor has no children and so put up a fence to keep them out of his yard. The only thing is that he put in a galvanized fence with the spikes up!

My children have been taught never to climb the fence, but others playing in our yard might want to get a ball or something. I'm in constant fear they might slip and fall on top of the spikes, getting badly hurt or putting an eye out.

I have asked our neighbor to turn the spikes down, but he says the kids have no business on his fence and it is their tough luck; he is not responsible. — WONDERING

DEAR WON:

Why not ask your insurance agent to take a look at the spiked fence? Perhaps this crochety neighbor will listen when an expert tells him big lawsuits result from endangering children's lives. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband and I visited our newlywed daughter and son-in-law in another state. On leaving, we asked them to spend a week with us this summer at a rented beach cottage. They readily agreed, and then my daughter (in their presence) suggested that her in-laws join us. What could I do but say, "That's just fine."

Now all four are planning to come in on us, and the cottage isn't that big. I had wanted a rest during our one week off, and also time to enjoy a vacation with our four younger children. Should we change our vacation to another month when they can't come? — DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DIS:

Why not level with your daughter — then tell her you can arrange to rent a near-by cottage at a price that won't level the combined bank accounts? You'll no doubt enjoy their presence, if you don't have to feed and house them. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am a masseur by profession and a good one. I don't claim that massage cures everything, but I have built up a good reputation for scientific treatment. I look on myself as a doctor and have brought much comfort to people.

The trouble is my wife objects to my having ladies as patients. I am the only masseur in this town and it's hard to turn them away. Embarrassing too. What can I do to convince her? — HEALING HANDS

DEAR H. H.:

Why not "hire" your wife as your nurse? Then she'd realize there is no cause for alarm. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I've had 50 years of a bad marriage. My wife was untrue to me, but I didn't divorce her because of the children. Now they're through college and gone. I don't want to live with them. I don't think my wife would give me a divorce now.

I met a lady I kept company with before I was married. She has lost her husband. If I should take this lady in as my housekeeper, could my wife come along and put her out? We have good habits: no whiskey or tobacco. — LONELY

DEAR LONELY:

If your wife lives with you, she could certainly put the new lady out. But if she refuses to live with you, then, at your age, you need a housekeeper, and, at your age, there would scarcely be much talk among the neighbors.

It all depends on whether or not you're separated physically. — H.

Shoelace Out

Is the shoe lace going the way of the buggy whip? Gentlemen's Quarterly thinks there's a chance as more and more men prefer a slip-on style of shoe for business as well as casual wear. Currently in favor, too, is the strap-and-buckle type of closure.

SGT. AND MRS. PAUL A. GIAUDRONE JR.

Lynn Lewin Bride In Military Rite

A wedding at the chapel at San Diego Marine Corps Base on May 20 united in marriage Lynn Lewis, lance corporal with the U.S. Women's Marine Corps, and Sgt. Paul Andrew Giaudrone Jr. of the Marine Corps Recruit Depot there.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Levin of San Anselmo, Lynn was given in marriage by her father, and she wore a white crepe gown with lace trim and chapel length train.

Sgt. Lois Hardeman, USMC, San Diego, was the maid of honor and Cpl. Mary Anne Lentine, USMC, San Diego, was the bridesmaid. They wore their dress blue uniforms for the military rite.

Serving as best man was Sgt. Larry Hardeman, USMC. After the wedding a reception was held at the Hardeman home in San Diego.

Lynn attended Sir Francis Drake High School for three years and was graduated from Fairfax High School in Los Angeles. She is the sister of Pfc. Dale Lewin, who is serving with the Marine Corps in Vietnam.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Giaudrone of Stockton, and he is the brother of Mrs. Lawrence Craig of Stockton. He was graduated from Stagg High School in Stockton and is serving with the U.S. Marine Corps in San Diego, where the couple will live.

Queen's Initiative Ends Royal Snubbing

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II personally took the initiative in ending the royal family's snubbing of the American-born Duchess of Windsor, a source close to the throne said.

"It was her own idea," said the informant, "It was from no suggestion of her advisers, from any of the duke's old friends, or any other member of the royal family.

At the queen's invitation the duchess and the duke on June 7 will join other members of the royal family in unveiling a plaque in London to the late Queen Mary.

THIS WILL be the first time the royal family has extended such recognition to the duchess since the duke — the former King Edward VIII — gave up the throne to wed the divorced Wallis Warfield Simpson 30 years ago.

While the queen is said to be enthusiastically behind this gesture of appearing with the duchess at a private family affair, every member of the royal family is not, at this point, at least, showing the same fervor.

One is said to be cool to the whole idea.

"All the younger members of the family are solidly behind the queen," said the informant.

The younger members of the royal family, old enough to hold opinions on such matters, generally include: the queen's husband Prince Philip, 46 on June 10; Princess Margaret, 36, the queen's sister; Prince Charles, 18, heir to the throne; his sister, Princess Anne, 16; the Duke of Kent, 31, nephew of the Duke of Windsor; Princess Alexandra, 30, Windsor's niece; and two more members, Princes William, 25, and Richard, 22, of Gloucester.

OLDER MEMBERS of the royal family are generally considered to be: the Queen Mother, 66, widow of King George VI; the Duke of Glouster, 67, only living brother of the Duke of Windsor; and Princess Marina, Duchess of Kent, 60.

On June 31 1937, the Duke of Windsor married Mrs. Simpson after renouncing the throne on Dec. 11, 1936.

The duke will be 73 on June 23.

Mrs. Robert Frank Ohrenschall of Greenbrae, last year's vice persident and Marin campaign chairman for the San Francisco Symphony, is the new president of the Marin Regional Council of the San Francisco Symphony Foundation.

"The purpose of the council," she explained, "is to promote good music in Marin as well as to support the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. In addition to the annual membership campaign, a major activity, the council sponsors the afternoon bus trips to a short series of San Francisco Symphony concerts and assists with the concerts given by the San Francisco in Marin, including a youth concert.

Sue Ohrenschall has been a member of the council, for which membership is invitational, since its inception two years ago. She is a board member of the San Francisco Symphony Foundation.

Sue and her husband, a partner in a package design and market research firm in San Francisco, have lived in Marin eight years with a two-year break in Chicago. They have four children: Mark, 9, and Ross, 8; Page, 6, and Sally, three months.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Marin County is hobby county. This will be illustrated once again next week when Pacific Gas and Electric Co. employees hold their annual art and hobby show at the utility firm's divisional headquarters in San Rafael. One of the more interesting exhibits will be that of Joe Meagor, retired PG&E employee and "rock hound." Read about how he became a rock collector in tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

It is evident to any onlooker that synchronized swimming is a sport that requires grace. But it takes stamina as well, declared Darleen Bordner of San Anselmo, a medal-winning competitor. Miss Bordner, currently engaged in preparations for next weekend's annual Ballet Aquacade, discusses synchronized swimming, its demands and what it has meant to her in tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement.

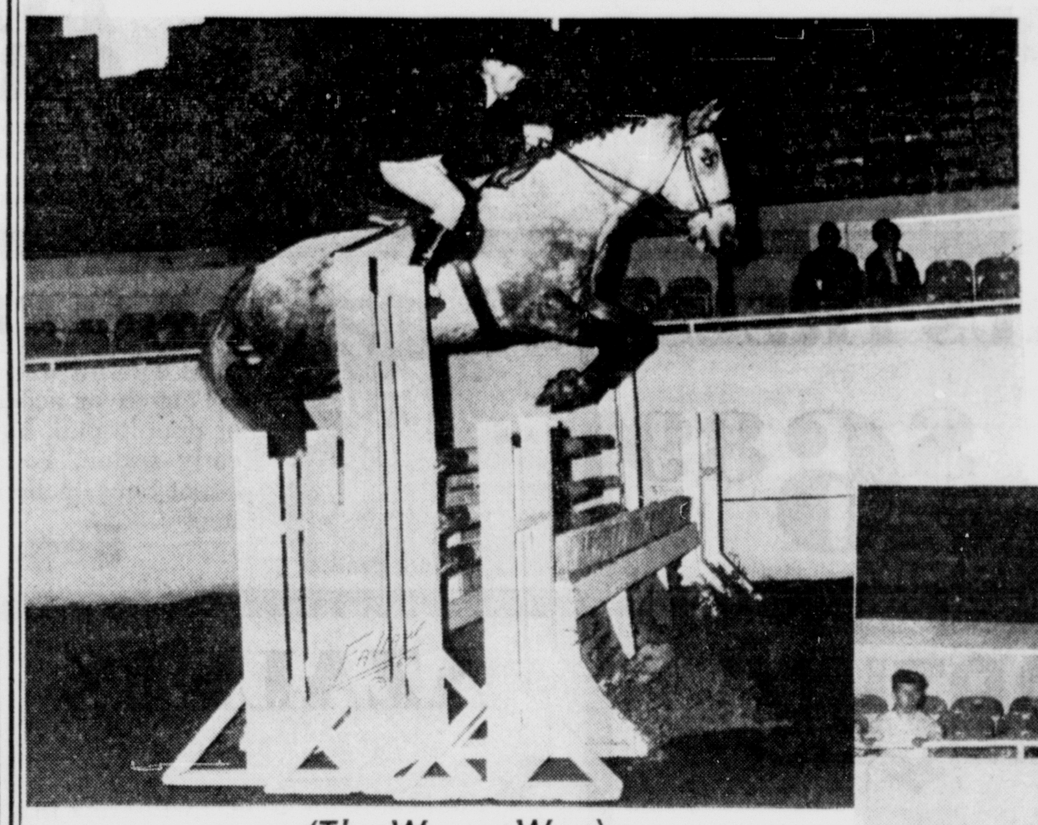
ATHERTON SCHOOL OF RIDING

(In Novato)

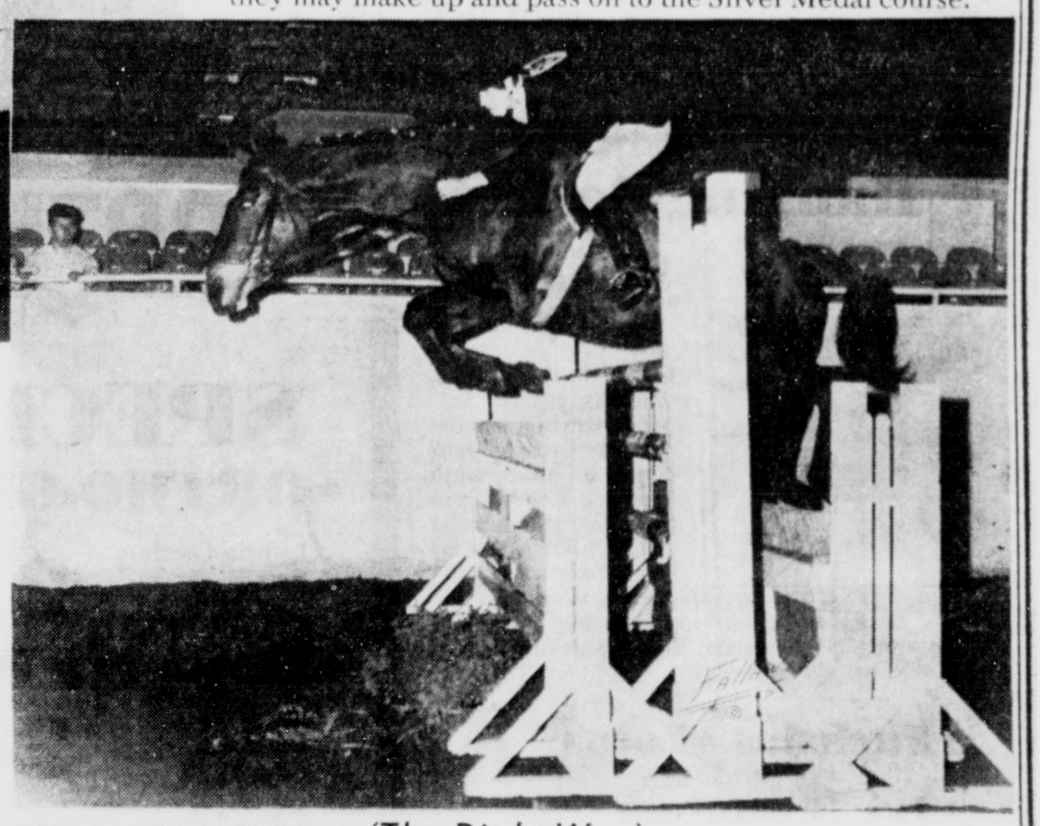
Announcement

A school of equitation embracing all facits of the art of horsemanship and stable management will open at Atherton School in Novato on June 15th and operate through the summer, closing upon the return of the school year. Children will be accepted—ages 12 through 16.

The course is divided into three sessions. The first, the Bronze Medal session; the second, the Silver Medal session; and the third, the Gold Medal session. Progress will be judged weekly on points. On July 15th all pupils will be graded according to the points received and the graduates from the Bronze Medal course will automatically pass on to the Silver Medal class. Pupils failing the Bronze Medal examination will be given additional instruction in the subject in which they are weak so that they may make up and pass on to the Silver Medal course.



(The Wrong Way)



(The Right Way)

August 15th a further examination will graduate the Silver Medal winners to the Gold Medal class. Final examinations will be held on or about September 1st, and graduates will receive the Gold Medal.

On September 10th there will be a horse show for all pupils, and they will be graded on points. Therefore, it does not necessarily follow that the winner will be the best rider, because equal points will be given throughout the course on horsemanship, stable management and technical theory, and a pupil can well make up points in the other classes to offset any imperfection in riding ability.

There will be evening sessions in the clubhouse, accompanied by motion pictures explaining the differences in horses, the theory of horsemanship, and horse care. The graduates from this school should be accomplished horsemen and horsewomen by September.

Our Indoor Riding Facilities

The cost of the entire course is $60 a month, or $180 for the course. Children who will be absent at camps or vacationing with their parents for some parts of the course will be given additional instruction upon their return so that they may catch up with the others.

We have room for 20 resident pupils who will be constantly under the supervision of a chaperon. All children will be expected to report to the stable at 9:00 o'clock in the morning, and before starting the day's work, will take a half hour's swim in the swimming pool. At the noon break there will also be a swimming session.

The cost of resident membership will be $55 a week for room and board, so that the total cost of a resident pupil will be $60 tuition per month, and $55 a week for room and board. Non-resident pupils can obtain lunch in the clubhouse at a nominal cost, or they may bring a picnic lunch.

CROSSROADS HAPPENING

Drifter Meets Hippie Drop-Out, Still Wants To Make The Scene

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

A young man going nowhere and a young woman who had been there met briefly yesterday in San Rafael at an unusual half-way house on their separate journeys.

Astride his horse, Surprise, the young drifter — a guitar on his back and his Labrador, Happy Dog, on the saddle in front of him — had ridden into San Rafael in search, he said, "of that valley with that stream and that piece of land."

HIPPY MAGNET

But whether he was looking for an actual valley, or some valley of the mind, 27-year-old Kent Grigg couldn't say. His only certainty was that he had been drawn by the magnet of the "hippy scene" to Marin, a way-station for him on the trip to San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury.

For the past week, he had been camping on a Point Richmond beach. Yesterday, a friendly rancher from Walnut Creek showed up with a horse trailer and gave Grigg, Happy and Surprise a lift across the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

Grigg said he wasn't a hippy. "But I've read a lot about it," he said, after putting a nickel in the parking meter to which he tied Surprise outside the state employment office at 805 E Street.

CONSPICUOUS FIGURE

What he hadn't read about the Haight-Ashbury, he could have learned inside the employment office, where he said he was going to "apply for any kind of work" to support his "hand-to-mouth existence."

He was a conspicuous figure in the office, what with his boots and well-worn pants, his bright red shirt, the beads around his neck, his bracelets of brass and silver-mounted tourquoise, and atop the long black hair bordering his bald head a battered hat trimmed with feathers and artificial flowers.

HELEN'S STORY

It was only natural he should be approached by the young woman who said her name was Helen and that she was a former hippy now looking for work, seeking to get out of the world that he was on his way to discover.

Helen at 20 had a broken marriage behind her, she said, and was being put up by friends in an apartment on Canal Street while she put her life in order.

"I'm trying to reform," she said. "I'm looking for work and trying to settle down."

There were much beauty and many beautiful people in the Haight-Ashbury where she had made the scene, Helen said. "There was a lot of sadness, too," she added.

'NOT REALLY FREE'

But on the whole, Helen had found it a trap: "When you get with it, you're not really free. It's all in a group, and they have this commune thing. They have the security of being with their friends, but they're not individuals. People aren't really being what they want to be. You're not really free."

She said, "Instead of working, they panhandle, but that is a kind of work, and in the end it's all just a struggle to survive on what little they have."

The brave but futile search for freedom and its dead-end were the beauty and the sadness of the scene for the former hippy, now neatly turned out in a smart gray suit, yellow wool coat and red shoes.

What made her get out, Helen said, was that "in San Francisco the people are so far up on drugs and everything else, yes the whole bit, free love and all. I had to get with something of my own."

Grigg, however — though vague about where he had come from and where he was going, vaguer still as to why — lost none of his interest in making the scene. And out of their brief encounter, he gained the addresses of some hippy friends who, Helen said, would welcome him.

Rain, Funds Refusal Cramp Tram's Style

Tiburon's experimental tram suffered two setbacks today, one from the weather and one from the Marin County Transit Board.

The tram, which braved today's downpour to meet its schedule, will not run tomorrow because of prediction of continuing rain, City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose announced.

Meanwhile, the transit board declined 3-to-2 to contribute $600 to the city's experimental effort to relieve downtown parking and traffic problems by running a morning and evening commute service and a shuttle service for shoppers.

Transit board chairman Thomas T. Storer, who called the special meeting at Civic Center, and Supervisor Peter H. Behr favored voting the $600, needed to round out the $1,850 cost of the nine-day trial of the motorized cable car.

But Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, John F. McInnis and William A. Gnoss said they were against it at the present. They agreed, however, to take the matter up again at the board's regular meeting at 8 p.m. next Wednesday.

The two city representatives on the board, Novato City Councilman William Jack Adams and Mayor Edward W. Colthurst of Corte Madera, were absent.

Supervisor McInnis questioned whether the test was broad enough to warrant county funds. Gnoss feared setting a precedent for underwriting such experiments. Kettenhofen objected to the lack of a formal, written request and suggested the money might be raised by a hotel-motel tax if Tiburon chose to levy it.

Rose said the tram service will be resumed Monday, starting at Strawberry at 7:05 a.m. "come rain or shine," and will continue through June 11.

Narcotics Prescription Fake Charged

Dr. Alex H. Beaton, an ear, nose and throat specialist with office at 599 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, was charged with issuing the prescriptions from June 26, 1966, to Feb. 16 this year in the names of two office employees, his ex-wife, and her husband.

Investigators claimed none of these persons were aware of the prescriptions being issued, however, and that Dr. Beaton was having the orders filled himself at pharmacies. The prescriptions were for various amounts of narcotics including codeine and percodan, they said.

The complaint was signed by William E. Low, special investigator for the State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards. Dr. Beaton is scheduled for arraignment at 1:30 p.m. next Friday.

Ex-Marinite Sought In Art Sales

A prominent San Francisco art dealer, who until March was a Sausalito resident, was sought today on grand theft charges in connection with the sale of several valuable collections.

Jack Verde, 43, who operated galleries at 539 Sutter Street and 1815 Union Street, was named in a warrant issued on complaint of Norman H. Moore, a retired Litton Industries executive who took over the galleries early last month.

Moore asserted that among the art works Verde sold him were some fakes and some which did not belong to Verde, having been entrusted to the galleries for safekeeping by their owners.

Mill Valley's Library Will Double Fines

The increases were suggested by the city council to help finance an additional librarian and a $5,000 deficit in the proposed library budget. Trustees rejected the council's suggestion that rent for records also be increased. A 10-cent rent would discourage their use by children, said Mrs. Dreyfus.

Trustees asked Leland H. Jordan City Attorney, to take steps to expedite responses to their queries to architects, contractors and engineers for the new library about vibrations of the main floor. Engineering tests of the floor began only 10 days ago, said Harold E. Soule, assistant to the city manager. The vibrations have concerned trustees since the library opened last August.

Weather Halts Park Dedication

Dedication ceremonies for Santa Margarita Park, scheduled for tomorrow, have been postponed until 11 a.m. June 10, because of the threatening weather, it was announced today by Andrew J. Snyder, San Rafael parks and recreation director.

Snyder said that with rain forecast until 9 a.m. tomorrow and showers throughout the day, "we can't take a chance" on the outdoor program at the three-acre park at the west end of De La Guerra Road.

Jail, Fine For Drunken Driving

Mavis L. Thielman, 57, of 98 La Brea Way, San Rafael, was given five days in county jail and fined $289 in Marin Municiapl Court yesterday for drunken driving with a prior conviction.

She also was placed on six months probation. San Rafael police arrested her last Dec. 5 on Lincoln Avenue.

Supervisors Create Deputy Data Position

They agreed, in a 45-minute closed session, to create the position of assistant and appoint John L. Gibb, who has been acting director since the departure of Alreigh R. Sewell from the director's post.

Salary for Gibb in his assistant position will be settled during general salary discussion next Thursday, County Administrator Alan Bruce reported.

Appointment to the assistant position was requested by Gibb even though he was among the 85 applicants for the director's post, advertised with a salary range of $16,000 to $18,000 a year, Bruce said.

Bruce said that screening by the county personnel department resulted in seven recommended for review by an oral board. Of these, Bruce was ready to recommend only Gibb and possibly another man, but the other man withdrew his application at the last minute.

Gibb, who is 41, has been with the county 10 years, starting in the data processing department and later being administrative analyst under Bruce, a position he held until Sewell's departure in Ferbuary.

$220 Cash Stolen

Albert Gondolla, co-owner of Top Hat Market at 418 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, reported yesterday to police that cash stolen Saturday from a register totaled $220, not $60 as first reported.

Car Parts Taken

Eight carburetors and a pair of hub caps, with a total value of $420, were stolen the past two weeks from new cars in a storage yard at Doug Dicker Chrysler-Plymouth, at 535 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, Henry E. Arend, service manager, told police yesterday.

Judge Studies Trial Motion

A motion for a new trial for Loverd Howard, convicted of a Marin City armed robbery, was taken under submission yesterday by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., sitting in Marin Superior Court.

Counsel for Howard contended Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony was allowed to prejudice the jury in the trial which resulted in Howard's conviction on May 25 of the Feb. 1 armed robbery of Richard Lomax and Nancy Baker in a Marin City apartment.

Judge Goldstein said he would rule on the motion June 15 at 9:30 a.m.

Ark Locations Are Corrected

The 17 arks demolished by the City of Larkspur last weekend on Corte Madera flood control project land were on Boardwalks 2, 3 and 4. Yesterday's Independent - Journal reported that all were on Boardwalk 3.

Mrs. Gerda Welden, occupant of the only ark still standing on Boardwalk 3, was supposed to vacate the ark yesterday, but has received permission from the county to remain until Sunday, or until the rain stops.

Employees Ask Pay Hikes; Minimum Set

About 30 members of the Marin County Employees Association last night endorsed request for a minimum salary raise of 5 per cent next fiscal year, with some raises of 10 and 15 per cent in certain classifications.

Association manager Frederick Ward said he is still studying salaries but his request will be complete in time for county supervisors' discussion of salaries next Thursday.

The association agreed to seek a contract to operate the Civic Center cafeteria when next the contract is negotiated, provided there is no financial hazard to the association. The cafeteria is now operated under the state department of rehabilitation with a blind manager.

Shooting Complaint Against Four

The complaint alleges Peggy Ann Priesman, 26, Joseph Jarvis, 28, Frank Henry Brown, 23, and Robert James McFate, 22, all of San Francisco, assaulted Mrs. Nadine Hall of 125 Woodward Avenue with a gun.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua Thomas siad Brown allegedly fired the shot through Mrs. Hall's front door after she refused admittance to the group minutes after the robbery of Bottle Shop in Sausalito.

Brown has posed as a police officer, Thomas said, and was apparently either seeking a hiding place or a vehicle. The slug missed Mrs. Hall, lodging in a beam over her head.

Mrs. Priesman and Jarvis were scheduled for arraignment in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon on the new charge. Brown and McPate are being held by Los Angeles police in connection with robberies there.

Novato Gets Suspect Five Years Later

After five and one-half years, Novato police yesterday arrested Hosea Daniel Beck of Richmond for the Dec. 16, 1961 burglary of the Novato Firestone Store at 7374 Redwood Highway.

Novato police had a hold on Beck since last December, while he was serving time in the Contra Costa County Jail.

He was booked into Marin County jail late yesterday on a burglery charge, with bail set at $1,613.

Beck, with two companions, Harold and John Walker, brothers, were caught in the Firestone Store by Patrolman Walter Weidauer. They escaped into the foggy night.

Harold Walker was arrested on Jan. 3, 1962 and pleaded guilty to the burglary. He was sentenced to one year in the county jail, suspended, and placed on two years probation.

Beck has been in and out of several California jails in the meantime, said Novato Police Chief John Di Grazia. John Walker has never yet been apprehended.

Nike Hercules Batteries Form Ring Of Defense

By M/Sgt. BOB JOHNSON
NORAD Public Affairs

Men, machines, weaponry, even four-footed sentries mesh to provide a web of air defense for the more than four million citizens who live and work in the San Francisco-Travis Air Force Base area.

These sites, like others positioned throughout the United States, are an important cog in the over-all machinery that goes into making up the joint U.S.-Canadian North American Air Defense Command.

Since the Nike Hercules missile was first deployed in 1958, numerous modifications and additions have been made to the system, giving the improved missile the capability to engage smaller and swifter targets, such as air-to-surface and submarine-launched cruise missiles in addition to the bombers which the Hercules was originally designed to destroy.

The professional Army air defense specialists protecting the Bay Area are assigned to the 40th Artillery Brigade located at the Presidio of San Francisco.

At Hamilton Air Force Base men of the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron play their part in the area's air defense network. Their supersonic F-101 Voodoos are on around-the-clock alert to intercept enemy bombers.

Air defense men of NORAD man Distant Early Warning sites in the Far North to give the pilots at Hamilton Air Force Base plenty of warning of an impending bomber strike, enabling them to be in the air and traveling at supersonic speeds to make contact and destroy the aggressor force.

Assigned to the USAF's Air Defense Command, these supersonic defenders of U.S. air space spend many airbourne hours checking out unidentified intruders that cannot be determined as friendly through normal flight plans or communications.

This important role is assigned to the Air Force Command's 552nd Airbourne Early Warning and Control Wing at McClellan Air Force Base. Flying these long surveillance missions in EC-121 Warning Stars (military-modified versions of the Lockheed Super Constellation), they send back information through command channels to NORAD'S Combat Operations Center near Colorado Springs, Colo., where it can be used by the commander in chief and his battle staff for planning the over-all air defense for the continent.

Radar search and tracking sets transmit and receive their impulses through the antenna in the lower dome on board the Warning Stars. The eight-foot dome on top of the airplane houses the height finder antenna, a vital part of the radar equipment which automatically computes the altitude of target aircraft.

Sinse these vital cogs of the air defense machinery must remain out over the ocean for extended periods of time, they are equipped with tip tanks which enable them to cover thousands of miles of seaward approaches without refueling.

The maze of electronic equipment aboard the Warning Stars enables flying technicians to "see" aerial invaders approaching the West Coast long before they could be detected by ground-based detection radars, giving the continent additional time to prepare for an enemy attack.

When the massive deployment of men and weapons to either detect and/or destroy an enemy intruder, a new system of communications and control was brought into being in the late 1950s. At this time NORAD moved into the electronic data-processing field through the use of the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment System or, as it is more commonly known, SAGE.

The SAGE center for the Bay Area is located at Adair Air Force Station, Ore., 75 miles south of Portland. This center is able to receive, process and display aerospace surveillance information, and, as directed, send guidance instructions or information to the many NORAD weapons systems deployed to defend this part of the West Coast of the United States.

COMMAND AND CONTROL—Tying together the whole defensive alignment of air defense weapons assigned to the Western North American Air Defense Command is the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment System at Adair Air Force Station, Ore.

I'M a very extraordinary dog considering the fact that my family has transferred to Spain. I'm being sensible, but I do love children & I miss them. So I'm looking for a home where my talents will be appreciated: Excellent watchdog, good with children & very healthy. I should mention my face is so handsome, slightly beagle in fact, & from the neck down German Shepherd. Mixtures are so interesting, don't you think? — Please phone for an appt. to see me, 457-0614.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Go To Italy And Then Dig Filmland

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television is supposed to be something of a breeding ground for potential movie stars, but pity the poor talent agent who tries to figure out the best bets.

For example, there used to be a good western on CBSTV-called "Rawhide," in whcih the two stars were Eric Fleming and Clint Eastwood. Fleming, who drowned last year in a boating mishap in Peru, had always seemed to me to dominate the series, and he did have his fling at motion pictures but failed to come up big.

ITALIAN BREAK

Eastwood, on the other hand, suddenly is in the limelight as a most unexpected movie star. It wasn't American movies that gave him his big break—but rather, Italian films. The Italians, who apparentiy saw something in Eastwood that our own moviemakers missed, have cast him in several westerns that have been smashes abroad and gained considerable attention here.

I remember when Robert Culp, currently a hit in "I Spy," was in a fine, almost intellectual western series called "Trackdown," and I heard a lot of talk from movie people about his potential stardom. Yet, though he did arrive in a major way on television, and has done very nicely in his motion picture endeavors, he can hardly be classed as a movie star.

On the other hand, Steve McQueen was around for a short time in a television western called "Wanted: Dead or Alive," in which he played a sympathetic bounty hunter. He certainly had someting, all right, but very few persons here could have predicted the considerable success he would find as a major movie personality.

BURNETT FLOPS

Most of the geniuses around here were certain the Carol Burnett was a sure thing as a motion picture star, but when she tried to head in that direction after being a CBS-TV headliner, she went nowhere fast, and video is still her base of operations.

In contrast, you could have counted on the thumbs of one hand the show business types who believed that Don Knotts, formerly of CBS-TV's Andy Griffith show, would find success in the movies. Yet he had headlined several offbeat films which, although they haven't made him a major star, have certainly indicated his appeal has more substance on the big screen than previously surmised.

Efrem Zimbalist Jr., formerly of ABC-TV's "77 Sunset Strip" and currently in the same network's "The FBI," looked as though he could waltz into motion picture leading roles, but it didn't work out that way. Many self-appointed experts here also thought Vince Edwards, of "Ben Casey," was a sure thing, but that has still to be proved. David Janssen, video's "The Fugitive," was heralded as yet another Clark Gable type, but remains a television personality.

THE QUESTION

I don't know of a single television star who, deep down, wouldn't rather be a movie headliner—partly for the money, of course, but also for the prestige. Video series are still the sausage line, and motion pictures are still something special, and the different classings and status of stars in this town make that unquestionably clear.

Driver Is Fined

John Benjamin Kirkwood, 54, San Francisco, was fined $174 and placed on a year's probation in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him on Highway 101 March 7.

Manager Held Unnecessary By Sanitary Board

Directors of Las Gallinas Sanitary District last night agreed that the district no longer needed a fulltime manager, and that engineering studies could probably be accomplished on a consultant basis in the future.

The board will discuss further details at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday, district secretary Helen Foulkes reported today.

The discussion was prompted by recent resignation of Gregory J. Hobbs, to take effect June 30.

Handicapped Leader Named

Herbert G. Hotchner of 37 Brentwood Drive, San Rafael, was elected president of the Marin Chapter of the California Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children last night.

Robert Fohlen and James Blumberg were elected vice presidents; Harry Matthews, treasurer, and Claire Smith, secretary.

Hotchner said the new officers will start a campaign to expand membership of the chapter, which is county-wide.

Emmy Awards Sunday Night

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Television's annual tribute to itself, the Emmy awards, will be presented for the 19th time Sunday night.

Hot-Hitting Giants To Open Series With Mets

If the San Francisco Giants can so convincingly overpower the awesome Pittsburgh Pirates, what will happen when the lowly New York Mets come to Candlestick Park for the start of a four-game series tonight at 8 o'clock.

Gaylord Perry's two-hit pitching and the Giants' continued clutch hitting yesterday produced a 7-1 victory and a two-game sweep of the Pirates. The Giants, who have won 15 of their last 20 games, leaped over Pittsburgh and into third place in the National League.

In the two games, San Francisco's red hot batting order clobbered Pirate pitching for 22 runs and 25 hits—six of the hits by outfielder Jesus Alou in the leadoff spot.

Manager Herman Franks seems to be a wizard in filling out his lineup card. Playing percentages, he started nine right-handed hitters against lefty Juan Pizarro yesterday and the Giants bunched seven of their hits in two innings for all their scoring.

"I'm not playing percentages any more than I used to," growled Franks. Things are just going right for us. If we were losing, you guys would think I was a bum."

Perry, now 4-4 following his third straight complete game victory, used an assortment of sliders to baffle the Bucs. For the second straight day, league batting leader Roberto Clemente was held hitless. Clemente, Maury Wills and Matty Alou were zero-for-12 against Perry.

The lanky right-hander held the Pirates hitless until Donn Clendenon lashed a single off the pitcher's hip with one out in the seventh. Willie Stargell had a pinch single in the eighth for the other hit. Both runners were erased on inning-ending double plays.

"I knew I had a no-hitter going, so I bore down all the way," said Perry.

"Clendenon and Stargell both hit good sliders. There was nothing cheap about their hits. I'm just thankful my stuff was working and that I was able to hit the corners all afternoon."

Perry struck out seven and walked three. He walked Clendenon in the second and George Spriggs in the fourth. They were the only Pirates to reach base until the seventh, when Spriggs led off with a walk.

He became the first Pirate to reach second on a ground-out by Clemente. Shortstop Jim Davenport's error on Bill Mazeroski's grounder scored Spriggs. Clendenon followed with his single.

Pizarro almost was as effective as Perry, except for a rocky third inning. Jesus Alou hit his second home run in as many days, Willie Mays singled and Jim Hart followed with a 400-foot triple for 2-0.

After Pittsburgh came within one run in the seventh, the Giants gave Perry a cushion with a 5-run eighth off reliever Pete Mikkelsen. Pinch hitter Willie McCovey's two-run double and a three-run homer by catcher Dick Dietz were the big blows.

AMBUSH AT DODGER GAP

Philadelphia Philly Gary Sutherland (35) runs straight into no-man's land as he's literally surrounded by Los Angeles Dodgers while trying to go for second base. He didn't make it as Dodger Nate Oliver (17) puts the tag on him after taking a throw from shortstop Gene Michael (26) while catcher John Roseboro (8) and pitcher Claude Osteen (23) wait at first. Ron Cerrudo Streaks To British Golf Finals

FORMBY, England (AP) — Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael and Bob Dickson of Muskogee, Okla., won two matches today and set up the first All-American final since 1959 in the British Amateur Golf Championship.

Dickson, 23, the tournament favorite, crushed Allen Moss of England 7 and 5 and then defeated Britain's Gordon Clark, 1964 winner of this event, in the semifinals, 4 and 3.

Cerrudo, 22, scored 5 and 4 over Mike Bonallack, of England, two-time British amateur champion, in the quarter-finals and then won an extra-hole match from Walker Cup teammate Marty Fleckman of Houston, Tex., 1-up on the 19th.

The last time the United States had two men in the British finals was 1959 at Sandwich when Deane Beman, now a pro, beat William Hyndman III of Philadelphia. Richard Davies was the last American winner, in 1962.

Dickson continued to play brilliant golf, particularly on the greens. He sank putts of 25 and 15 feet in his match against Clark and commented later:

"I don't know when I have putted so well."

Cerrudo three-putted the first green but rallied to go 2-up on Fleckman at the sixth. Then Fleckman, a renowned battler, won the seventh and eighth to turn all square.

Fleckman and Cerrudo came to the home hole all even. Both had good drives. Fleckman played first and landed his approach about 15 feet from the cup. Cerrudo then landed his approach inside to about 10 feet.

Fleckman calmly stepped up and sank his putt for a birdie. Now the pressure was on Cerrudo. He was just as cool as Fleckman and knocked in his 10 footer for a birdie.

On the 19th, Fleckman three-putted after both had reached the middle of the green on the par 4 hole in 2. Fleckman's bold putt went six feet past the cup, and he missed coming back. Cerrudo putted to within three feet and sank for a winning par 4.

Cerrudo never lost a hole in the quarter-final match against Bonallack, who was suffering from a bad back. The San Rafael lad was pitching and chipping perfectly, getting birdies at the fourth, sixth and eighth on putts of between two and seven feet.

Meet San Rafael Braves

JIM GILMARTIN

Semi-Pro Team To Open Slate

PLAY BALL! — San Rafael Braves, a semi-pro baseball team sponsored by sportsman Irving "Whitey" Litchfield, opens Western Baseball Association action with three games this weekend against Santa Rosa, weather permitting.

To acquaint you with some of the local players, this, then, is a thumbnail profile of the Braves:

Cather Rocky Shone and pitcher Ben Burch are at long last teammates after opposing each other as stars at San Rafael and Marin Catholic high schools and Cal and Stanford, respectively, during the past five years.

Pitcher Bill Wakefield, formerly of Stanford and the N.Y. Mets varsity, is the team's hottest player. He is partner in the La Tolteca Spanish Foods Co. in the East Bay.

Ex-Terra Linda High star Fred Daniele is the second member of his family to play for the Braves, following in the footsteps of his brother, Jerry, a serviceman now stationed in Hawaii. Daniele and pitcher Ron Gilliam played for College of Marin this year. . . . Another Terra Linda grad on the lineup is outfielder Bill "The Bull" Brody. Brody and Braves catcher Bob Dowd were teammates at S.F. State this season.

. . . Infielder Paul Giambra, an all-star selection at U. of Nevada this season, represented Northern Cal at the New York All-Star sandlot classic in 1965.

Infielder-coach Jess Jacinto and his wife, Billie, were married at second base in Clovis, New Mexico, during Jess' minor league career. They have five children, best average on the team.

Outfielder Doug Wilson, who played a couple of seasons in the S.F. Giants' farm system, is big brudder of Redwood High all-star Kevin Wilson . . . Nick Willard, a three-sport star in his prep days at Novato, batted .323 at USF this spring. Nick last years played for the Bellingham (Wash.) Bells, whom he'll oppose as a Brave this summer . . . Speaking of such: First baeseman-outfielder Neil McNevin has played for the Fallon, Nev. team, another San Rafael opponent this month.

Infielder-catcher Ron Gasper has five years of pro experience with the Minnesota and N.Y. Mets organizations. . . . Infielder Bill Connolly played three years for the Santa Clara varsity plus two years in the Minnesota system. His father, incidentally, coached the team that won the 1962 Babe Ruth League World Championship.

Coach Frank Regan, who coached Connolly as a Little Leaguer, has been teaching baseball for 20 years and in 1959 was awarded the Archbiship's Catholic Youth Award medal for outstanding service in S.F.

Pitcher Ben Trujillo, a 5-9, 165-pounder, is nicknamed "Mousey" but there is nothing cheesey about his career record that includes 17 no-hitters. Ben played in the Florida State and Sally pro leagues before joining San Rafael two years ago. . . . Gerry Bosch, an outfielder and former All-S.F. pick at Sacred Heart, is brother of N.Y. Mets varsity flychaser Don Bosch.

Rich Jeffries, a fine-hitting infielder, coaches varsity baseball and teaches both physical and driver educations at Capuchino High. . . . And centerfielder Joe Panella is assistant varsity baseball coach at Laney Junior College in the East Bay.

Relief pitcher Bill Clark, a student at College of Marin, is well-traveled. The Groveton, N.H. native played ball for service teams back east and in Europe before discovering Marvelous Marin.

Bod DeRosa, a Marin Catholic alumnus, has starred in Marin semi-pro baseball for more than a decade, winning most valuable player awards twice and is still going strong at age 26. With four children, he's running a strong second to Jacinto in the Kiddie League.

And finally, Manager Joe Anselmo, the real champ on this outstanding ball club. Over the years his teams have won more than 250 games and 9 titles on Marin sandlots, a fantastic record. He also scouts for the Atlanta Braves, but there won't be a little Anselmo coming along the pro baseball trail. All three of Joe's children are girls.

New Loop For Tars In 1968

The State Athletic Committee of the California Junior College Association has added two more conferences to the lists, swelling the total to 12 and in general has done some wholesale reshuffling.

The move will terminate College of Marin's stay in the Golden Valley Conference, putting it, along with GVC member Santa Rosa, in the New North Conference, effective Sept. 1, 1968.

CONTRA COSTA

The new conference also includes basketball powerhouse Contra Costa (San Pablo), DeAnza (Foothill), Solano (Vallejo), and West Valley (Campbell). Two more teams will be added in 1969.

The immediate effect may be that Tar basketball coach Cal Riemcke will have a more difficult time piling up titles with Contra Costa around.

The GVC, which was getting unwieldy, what with a two-division split, will continue to operate but with eight teams instead of 10.

TRADITIONAL FOES

The Tars will no longer see such traditional foes as Shasta and Sierra, among others.

The second new conference is the South Conference, a six-team loop made of Southern California schools.

In another switch, Laney of Oakland will join the already powerful Golden Gate Conference, to compete with big boys like San Francisco City College, College of San Mateo and San Jose City College.

Typhoid Fever Hits Athletes

STANFORD (AP)—Five Stanford athletes are hospitalized with typhoid fever, Stanford University Health Center reported yesterday.

Newest addition — and facing the greatest potential complications is Dick Roth, Olympic gold medal swimmer. He was withdrawn from the U.S. swim team for the Pan American Games at Winnipeg in July.

He won't be able to swim again until he no longer shows traces of the disease, said Hal Wilson, university health officer.

Roth and the other athletes are doing well, said Dr. Maurice Osborne, director of the health center.

They are Mike Hibler, offensive tackle and draft choice of the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League; John Huss, starting halfback; Bob Conrad, starting end; and fullback John Read who is going to the Canadian Football League.

SAME FRATERNITY

All are members of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity. Six other members of the fraternity were stricken. Two of them are still in the hospital, two have been released and two apparently recovered spontaneously.

Dr. Osborne said the outbreak has been traced apparently to a woman cook at the fraternity house. He described her as a "Typhoid Mary," a carrier of the disease. The fraternity's kitchen was closed last Friday.

George Haines, coach of two Olympic swim teams, said Roth had been a cinch for the 1968 U.S. Olympic team. Now, Haines said, it depends on his convalescence.

Wilson said it is just possible Roth may never be able to swim again. About five per cent of those stricken with typhoid remain carriers. If this should happen to Roth, Wilson said, his swimming days will be over.

Dr. Osborne said the other athletes should regain their strength and be able to play football in the fall.

A Big Start For Hill In Memphis Open Golf

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Babe Hiskey trailed leader Dave Hill going into the second round of the $100,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament today, but the new car he won for a hole-in-one soothed the pain.

Hill, from Jackson, Mich., shot a 5-under-par 65 in the opening round yesterday and used a powerful driving game to post an eagle 3, three birdies and 14 pars.

DAVE HILL

NICKLAUS SOARS

Next came Dave Stockton, Dave Ragan, Steve Spray and Randi Petri with 68s. Defending champion Bert Yancey shot a par-70, and former champ Jack Nicklaus soared to a 77.

Hiskey, 28, of Burley, Idaho, jumped to an early lead with a 7-iron hole-in-one on the 182-yard 12th. And he missed another hole-in-one by two inches on the 17th.

But the putter was his big stick and perhaps the deadliest club on the course. Hiskey was not accurate with his tee shots and he hit only 12 greens in regulation. But he tied for first on the greens—with eight one-putts and nine two-putts.

A 30-footer on the 500-yard 16th gave him an eagle-3, and he sank 25-foot putts for a birdie and a par.

CHANGED GRIP

His success on the green dates back to 1965 when he changed his grip and went on to double his earnings from the previous year. He tied for ninth in the Oklahoma City Open last week and has won $5,597 this year.

"I thought the course played hard because of the rain this week," Hiskey said. "But my putter was really going. I had an interesting round. There wasn't a dull moment."

A tee shot soared out of bounds and triggered a triple bogey on the last hole, when he was 6 under, and cost him the lead.

"I could have been out of the tournament at the 8th," he said, referring to the out-of-bounds trouble.

"There were two kids running back and forth—they had been following us for three holes. I sliced my first drive and took my eye off it looking at those kids. My second drive went 80 yards out of bounds."

At that point, Hill discarded his driver and, using a 3-wood, drilled one down the middle. He then found that his first tee shot was still in play, and he fired that ball to within an inch of the cup.

Nightmare Ninth Innings Tumble Braves And Cubs

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Or perhaps a suit of armor for catcher Joe Torre would have been more appropriate.

Torre was the unfortunate fellow on the receiving end of Niekro's fluttering floater last night. The Atlanta catcher was charged with two passed balls in a nightmarish ninth inning as St. Louis rallied for a pair of runs and then went on to defeat the Braves 5-4 in 10 innings.

The ninth inning was just as bleak for Leo Durocher's Chicago Cubs, who saw a two-run lead evaporate into a 7-6 Cincinnati victory. In other National League games, Houston dropped New York 4-1, San Francisco pounded Pittsburgh 7-1 and Philadelphia defeated Los Angeles 6-1.

CARDS RALLY

Denny Lemaster was sailing along on a six-hitter with a 4-2 lead as the Cardinals came to bat in the bottom of the ninth. John Romano opened with a bouncer to Clete Boyer, but the usually sure-handed third baseman threw the ball away for a two-base error.

Exit Lemaster, enter Niekro. Dick Hughes ran for Romano and moved to third as Niekro served a wild pitch.

Lou Brock's sacrifice fly brought Hughes home. Then Julian Javier walked and two of Niekro's knucklers fluttered ther way past Torre, moving Javier to third. Curt Flood's single scored Javier with the tying run.

GAME-WINNER

Niekro was gone in the 10th when Phil Gagliano singled and raced home on Bobby Tolan's two-out triple for the game-winner.

The Cubs suffered through a similar ninth inning against the Reds. Cal Koonce was protecting a 6-4 lead built mostly on five runs batted in by Billy Williams, who socked a pair of home runs.

Koonce struck out the first two batters in the bottom of the ninth, but Floyd Robinson beat out an infield hit. Vada Pinson's triple brought Robinson home, and moments later Pinson scored the tying run on a wild pitch.

Then Pete Rose walked and was safe at second on an attempted force play when Glenn Beckert dropped the throw for his third error of the game. Deron Johnson, who had singled home two runs in the eighth, walked, loading the bases and Tommy Helms drilled a single, scoring Rose with the winner.

THREE-HITTER

Larry Jackson scattered eight hits and had the Dodgers shut out until the ninth when Los Angeles snapped a 23-inning runless skein on Jim Hickman's triple.

French Gal, Aussie Make Net Finals

PARIS (AP) — Lesley Turner of Australia and Francoise Durr of France fought their way today into the women's singles final of the French International Tennis Championships.

Miss Turner, seeking her third title here, crushed Annette Van Zyl of South Africa 6-1, 6-4 while Miss Durr, France's top woman player, eliminated Kerry Melville of Australia 8-6, 6-3.

Miss Van Zyl had eliminated America's hope and the top-seeded favorite, Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., in the quarter-finals.

Two Australians, defending champion Tony Roche and the veteran Roy Emerson, gained the men's singles final yesterday.

Miss Turner, winner at Rome, had too much power for Miss Van Zyl, who sought to throw the tournament favorite off her game with teasing drop shots. The Australian girl pounced on the short shots and put most of them away quickly.

STEVENS

Another Californian, Rep. Cecil R. King, D-Los Angeles, joins the battle of the guns. King submitted H.R. 9745 which amends the U.S. Code to provide for control of interstate traffic in firearms.

A new section would be added. It would require that only licensed manufacturers or dealers could transport, ship, or receive any firearms in interstate commerce. Then, no firearm could be in violation of a state law. Further, no firearm could be shipped in interstate or foreign commerce to felons or fugitives. No handgun could be delivered to persons under 21 years of age and others would be required to submit an affidavit.

SO MUCH FOR guns — let's have a look-see at the fishing picture, past, present and future.

The following waters have been stocked this week with catchable trout — by counties: Mendocino — East branch of the Russian River. Lake — Anderson Creek, Upper Blue Lake. Napa — Hennessey Lake Impoundment. Alameda — Alameda Creek. San Francisco — Lake Merced. Santa Cruz—Corralitos Creek, San Lorenzo River. Monterey—Big Sur River. San Luis Obispo—Atascadero Creek, Chorro Reservoir.

UNDERSTAND, OF course, these schedules are subject to changes caused by weather and water conditions.

The Department of Fish and Game poses a question: Can 100,000 bay shrimp from Lake Merced live and thrive in Shasta County's Whiskeytown Reservoir? We will soon know. It's certain the bay shrimp planted in Lake Merced thrived and multiplied, so why not the Whiskeytown reservoir?

NASTY, COLD and windy days kept a large segment of the regular salmon trollers away from the rough ocean water on Wednesday, but the Lee Anderson Bait house in Oakland reported the boat, Anna V, bucked the adverse conditions on Tuesday and netted 9 salmon to 18 pounds, and the Miss Dragnet unloaded 15 to 23 pounds. Caruso's place in Sausalito reported very few boats made it to the outside account of inclement conditions, but the boat, Mi-three, had 8 or 10 salmon, and ditto the Salmon Queen. Conditions worsened on Wednesday. As far as I could learn, no party boats went out.

The Duke Two, landed one 50-pound sturgeon near the Pump House on Tuesday and boated two stripers, one of 5 pounds and one of six pounds.

WORD FROM THE back country through Ben Shintaku of 60 Main Bait at Isleton reported several vary hot days were relieved by chilly winds lasting for six straight days. Some bass were caught as were a lot of catfish at most of the boateries. But bass were scattered.

Anyone like to fish in foreign countries should head for Lake Iticaca in Bolivia. The highest navigable lake in the world. The lake harbors giant rainbow trout that grow to a weight of 30 pounds and more. If you make the trip send me a report, will you? Sturgeon still dominate the San Pablo Bay fishing, but, with much better tides at present, the bass fishing will likely improve.

Epstein Brought Senators Good Luck

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Statistical note: The Washington Senators have not lost a game since making their celebrated trade for Mike Epstein.

Whether that happy situation will continue once Epstein enters the line-up is problematical.

In the only other American League action Thursday, Minnesota blanked Boston 4-0 and Cleveland outhit Detroit 8-2.

Epstein is due to enter the Washington line-up as soon as Manager Gil Hodges feels he has worked off the effects of his self-imposed exile when the Orioles wanted to send him down to the minors. In the interim, the Senators have won a doubleheader from Kansas City and two games from California.

In last night's game, Camilo Pascual suddenly returned to the winning form that has been eluding him for the last few years, limiting the Angels to four hits in the tight game.

The curveballing right-hander scattered three singles and gave up a double to Jose Cardenal in the sixth. Cardenal moved to third on Jay Johnstone's fly to center but was out attempting to steal home.

The lone run of the game came in the third inning when Ed Brinkman singled, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Pascual and scored on Bob Saverine's single to left.

Dean Chance came up with another brilliant pitching performance, allowing the Red Sox, big hitters of late, just five hits and winning his ninth game of the season against only two defeats.

Celebrating his 26th birthday, Chance struck out 10 and allowed only one Boston runner as far as third base. Home runs by Bob Allison, his sixth, and Russ Nixon, his first, gave Chance all the runs he needed.

O'Donoghue's grand-slam homer was the big blow in a six-run sixth inning for the Indians, who knocked the Tigers out of first place.

The Cleveland left-hander allowed just two hits until the eighth when he was replaced by Orlando Pena after Mickey Stanley belted a homer for the Tigers.

Coliseum Relays Draws Top Stars

The cast includes 17 world record holders as individuals or teams at Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Smith, who has notched seven world records this year, will run in the 220 where his mark is 20 flat against such speedsters as Jim Hines of Texas Southern, Paul Nash of South Africa, and Lennox Miller, the Jamaican who competes for the University of Southern California.

Smith will also anchor the San Jose State mile relay team.

In the Compton Mile, Ryun, whose world record is 3:51.3, must beat off a challenge from Villanova's Dave Patrick who defeated him indoors in the 880 this year.

The smooth-striding Australian Clarke, one of the world's greatest distance men, will run in the 5,000 meters against countryman Don Cox and a bunch of durable Americans including Tracy Smith of Santa Monica, Calif., Van Nelson of St. Cloud College, Minn., George Scott of New Mexico, and Bob Day of the Southern California Striders.

TENNIS

TULSA, Okla. — Charles Pasarell of Santurce, Puerto Rico, put down troublesome Brian Cheney of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-3, 5-7-6-4, in the first round of mens division play at the Tulsa Tennis Club Invitational Tournament.

PARIS — The last Americans in the women's doubles quarterfinals of the French championships were eliminated when Annette Van Zyl of South Africa and Pat Wolkden of Rhodesia defeated Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco 6-2, 6-4.

FOOTBALL

BALTIMORE — Mammoth Bubba Smith, whose reputation as a defensive terror for Michigan State earned him the honor of being the first man selected in the first combined National and American Football League draft, yesterday signed with the Baltimore Colts.

BASKETBALL

CHICO — Gene Anderson, freshman coach the last three years, was elevated yesterday to varsity basketball coach at Chico State College.

College officials said Anderson, 34, replaces Don Scott, varsity coach the last six years who resigned Wednesday to take a position at Southwest Minnesota State College.

MARIN BOWLING

Leagues For Juniors At Greenbrae Lanes

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Lagging in past years on the junior level, Greenbrae, now under new management, wants to improve that aspect of the game. Country Club Bowl in San Rafael and Nave Lanes in Ignacio have had successful junior programs over the past years.

When school is out, there'll be Greenbrae leagues for bantams (12 and under), juniors (13-15) rolling a 586, Sporting a 153 average, this fine bowler has been at the game only a year.

There'll also be something for the adults this summer at Greenbrae Lanes. It will be the Redwood Empire Singles tournament for men and women, June 10 through Aug. 20. Bowlers can compete on any weekend, registering at the desk prior to start of play.

Phil Wallace, assistant manager of Greenbrae Lanes, had the week's best score there, an 815 four-game series in the 555 Masters Trio. The set included games of 236 and 232.

AT COUNTRY CLUB Bowl, Wayne Morris rolled a 261 game but he needed a 262. A 262 game, you see, would have given him a 600 series, which sounds much better than 599. That was in the T.G.I.F. League.

Kay Brem, Mill Valley housewife, wasn't satisfied with her 565 series in the Sleepers League last week. She again led the gals at Country Club Bowl, this time

Swimmers Set Pool Records

Lisa Berryman and Tom Anderson, who set 11 pool records between them, were named outstanding swimmers at the Strawberry Swim Club's Fun Day on Memorial Day.

Lisa set six records and Anderson set five. Both won six events.

Five-event winners were Eric Rayner, Dan Brock and Debbie Brick. Peter Baresin, Cindy Skog, and Pam Brock all won four events, and Davis Jampolsky, Mike Jampolsky, Scott Victor , Eve Jampolsky and Ellen Gardner won one event each.

Marin Youngsters In Midget Races

Billy Ray Key of Novato and brothers Pat and Billy McNulty of San Rafael will be among the youngsters competing in the quarter-midget races Sunday, beginning at 10 a.m., at the Bantam Car Club track.

Billy Ray won the trophy dash and was second in the main event in the novice program last weekend in the quarter-midget races in Hayward. Pat was second and brother Billy was fifth in the senior stock class at the same races.

Banks Milestone—2,000th Ballgame

CINCINNATI (AP) — Chicago Cubs star Ernie Banks reached another miliestone last night—the appearance in his 2,000th major league game, all as a Cub.

The Cubs-Cincinnati Reds game was halted briefly in the first inning by umpire Chris Pelekoudas who gave the game ball to Banks for a souvenir.

And Banks, 36, proceeded to show he's not yet ready for retirement. He collected three hits in five trips to the plate.

Banks broke in with the Cubs on Sept. 14, 1953 when they purchased his contract from the Kansas City Monarchs. He has since practically rewritten the Cub record book.

Stock Car Races

Time trials for tomorrow night's early-model stock car races at the quarter-mile Vallejo speedway are set to start at 7 o'clock. Heat racing begins at 8 p.m. The gates will open at 5:30.

Kavanaugh Award Goes To Hantzche

Norm Hantzsche, captain of the golf team and senior scholastic award winner in wrestling, received a standing ovation last night when he was named winner of the first Mike Kavanaugh Award at the Redwood High School varsity sports banquet at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, San Rafael.

The $100 cash award was established in honor of the first Redwood athlete to give his life for his country and went to the senior athlete who made the greatest contribution to his school, his teams and community.

Mike Kavanaugh was a member of the first Redwood basketball championship team in 1961. An Air Force jet pilot, he was killed in a training accident in Florida on May 17, 1966.

Jack Fitzhenry, co-captain of the baseball and basketball teams, was presented the E. E. Boyden Award in honor of an original member of the Redwood Benchwarmers Club.

Four Indians Named To Pac-8 Baseball Squad

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Four members of the Stanford baseball team have been named to the Pacific Eight's all star baseball team.

The Indians, winners of the Pacific Eight crown and the West's representative at the College World Series in Omaha, Neb., June 12-17, were catcher Mike Schomaker, first baseman Mark Marquess, shortstop Frank Duffy and pitcher Sandy Vance.

Others on the squad included Larry Hanson, Oregon, third base; Steve Klausen, UCLA, Shelly Andrens, USC, and Rick Brown, California, outfielders; and Mike Adamson, USC, and Tom Brown, Washington State, pitchers.

Bob Leatherwood of California and Charlie Petrilla of UCLA were tied in the balloting for second base.

The selections were made by the league's eight coaches.

It'll Be Quite A Test At Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 99th running of the Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct tomorrow is billed as "The Test of Champions," and it shapes up just that way.

It figures to be a showdown battle between Proud Clarion, the Kentucky Derby winner, and Damascus, the Preakness victor, with eight other horses in the field.

The entry list was swelled to 10 horses yesterday when Herbert Allen's Favorable Turn, who didn't compete in the Derby and finished ninth in the Preakness, was named a starter because trainer Gene Jacobs said, "Everyone wants to win the Belmont."

The son of Turn-To was joined in the field by Mrs. W.J. Seitz's Cool Reception; Patrice Jacobs' Reason to Hail; Michael Phipps' Gentleman James, John M. Schiff's Blasting Charge, Edgar Zantker's Prinkipo, Joseph M. Roebling's Gaylord's Feather and Mrs. Jane Levien's Nehoc's Bullet.

With the entry of Favorable Turn, who will have Angel Cordero in the saddle, the Belmont will be worth $149,700, with the winner's share $105,950.

Only seven horses have been able to win the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes, two of the three legs of racing's triple crown. Proud Clarion seeks to join that select field.

By the same token, Damascus, to be ridden by Willie Shoemaker and the 6-5 Belmont favorite, seeks to join a group of six who have been able to put together Preakness and Belmont victories. The last horse to accomplish the feat was Nashua in 1955.

Damascus was still at Delaware Park yesterday and was expected to be vanned into Aqueduct late this afternoon, according to trainer Frank Whitley.

Asked if Mrs. Edith Bancroft's Damascus could handle the 1 1-2 mile distance, longest of the three classics (the Derby was 1 1-4 miles and the Preakness 1 3-16), Whitley replied, "That's the $64 question."

"I don't know if he can handle the distance. Your guess is as good as mine," he added.

BAY AREA FUTURE

Apartment Boom Will Continue

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the final article in a series on Bank of America's new economic study, "Focus on the San Francisco-Oakland Metropolitan Area.")

Like much of the United States, the Bay Area has had an apartment-building boom.

Multiple unit authorizations rose from 6,439 in 1957 to more than 24,000 in 1963, an increase of 276 per cent. Single family home authorizations increased from about 11,000 to approximately 15,800, or an increase of only 44 per cent.

Contrary to other sections of California where the population growth has been more dramatic, the number of dwelling units authorized in the Bay Area has not expanded sharply since 1950.

CONSTRUCTION PACE

In 1966, dwelling units authorized dropped to around 14,300, the lowest point since 1950-66. New homes spending last year fell to an estimated $285 million compared with $518 million in 1963.

While part of this decline reflected an oversupply, the situation was aggravated by a lack of available mortgage money.

THE DECADE AHEAD

Over the next decade, the main determinants of residential building activity in the Bay Area will be the rate of growth in the population, the change in its age structure, the rate at which real income increases, and the impact of urban renewal.

All these factors combined are expected to result in a fairly high level of residential construction, probably close to the average level of 34,000 units that prevailed between 1960 and 1964.

NON-RESIDENTIAL UP

The level of industrial and commercial building activity in the Bay Area in the years to 1975 will continue to rise.

Building permits authorized since 1956 for offices, stores and industrial structures have not changed dramatically in number, but the value has soared as taller and taller structures are planned for city skylines, rising from more than $76 million to well over $227 million in 1966.

TRANSIT WORK

Heavy construction activity, too, will be strong in the area over the period to 1975, particularly as work on the Bay Area Rapid Transit system progresses, and as bridges, highways, and other public facilities are built to serve the region's steadily growing population.

Finally, alterations and additions to all types of buildings will be an important sustaining force keeping the level of construction expenditures buoyant.

Alterations and additions accounted for between 12 per cent and 16 per cent of total private construction expenditures in the area between 1960 and 1966.

IN GREENBRAE

Wells Fargo Sets Bank Open House

Wells Fargo Bank will celebrate the opening of its Greenbrae office tomorrow with traditional riboon cutting ceremonies, the appearance of its century-old Ben Holladay stagecoach, and an open house.

The new office at 100 Bon Air Shopping Center will be Wells Fargo's first branch in the City of Larkspur and its seventh in Marin County.

Ceremonies will begin at 1:30 p.m. and will be attended by city and county officials. The branch will hold an open house for the public until 5:30 p.m. During the afternoon children will be given rides on the stagecoach.

The bank will open for business Monday morning.

The Greenbrae office occupies a corner location at the west end of the shopping center, with 4,850 square feet of ground floor space. Employees and storage facilities take up an additional 770 square feet on a partial second floor.

Featured are a canopied and screened exterior walk-up teller window on the west side of the building, a night depository for after-hours banking, safe deposit accommodations, and a merchants teller station.

The office will be managed by Clinton Jones of Kent Woodlands. He joined Wells Fargo in 1954 and recently has been assistant manager of the New Montgomery Street office in San Francisco. Previously he had been assistant manager in San Anselmo.

Gerald M. Gunn of Tiburon has been appointed assistant manager. He joined the bank in 1964 following discharge from the Coast Guard.

Hourly Wages Climb In Area

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Hourly earnings of San Francisco Bay Area factory workers averaged $3.53 during April, a record high for the month and up 13 cents from a year ago.

The average factory work week was 39 hours in April, down .3 of an hour from March and .9 of an hour less than April last year, reported Albert C. Bson, State Department of Industrial Relations director.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

Honolulu Firm's Earnings Reduced

Record sales but slightly reduced earnings were reported by Castle and Cooke, Inc., Honolulu for the fiscal year ended April 30. Consolidated revenues were $336 million in 1966-67, compared with $318 million the year before. Consolidated net income was $10,079,000 or $2.34 per common share, compared with the previous year's $10,337,000 or $2.42 per share.

The Dole Co. division achieved the highest sales in its history, but earnings were down substantially. Extremely low competing juice prices and increased expenditures for advertising and promotion were said to have caused the decline. Bumble Bee Seafood division set new records in both sales and earnings. Oceanic Properties, Inc., the land development and management subsidiary operated at a loss again but to less extent than in 1965-66.

SIMON STORES, INC., Oakland reported a net loss of $299,227 on sales of $27,339,003 for its fiscal year ended Jan. 31. In the preceding fiscal period net income had amounted to $267,388 on sales of $20,190,733. After preferred dividends, the results per share for the two periods were equal to a loss of 48 cents and net income of 32 cents respectively.

UNITED STATES STEEL CORP. president Leslie B. Worthington, who rose from a sales apprentice, will retire June 30 after 44 years of service. He will continue as a director and a member of the executive committee. In 1942 Worthington became vice president and in 1946 president.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Invest Some Savings In Top Growth Buys

BY ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "We will have a pension plus Social Security after retirement. We have $15,000 in savings. Should we just keep this in the bank and not worry about investments?" A. H.

A. If you will allow me to say so, I feel very strongly that you should not. Your husband's pension, your Social Security, and your $15,000, if kept entirely in a savings institution, would leave your principal completely fixed, with no possibility of a rise in value to offset future inflation. Inflation has been checked but has never been halted in this country, and the consumer price index recently went to the highest level in history.

Since stocks are not fixed as to principal or income, they can rise in earnings, dividends, and price to help offset further devaluation of the dollar. Keep a reasonable savings account — enough for all contingencies — but put some of your savings into strong growth stocks. As a starter, I suggest Texaco and Consolidated Foods.

Q. "I would like to know if there is any set time between the sale of common stock and the arrival of the check from the broker who holds the certificates." G. E.

A. If your sale is made the "regular way," which is the normal procedure, your broker should mail you a check on the fourth business day following the date of your transaction. Saturdays and Sundays are excluded. For example, if you sell on Monday, your payment should be mailed on Friday. If your transaction is completed on Friday, a check should be sent to you on the following Thursday. You must, of course, allow a day or two for the check to reach you. Any delay in getting your money beyond the sixth business day following sale means there has been an error somewhere along the line. And if an error has been made, be as patient and understanding as you can. Big-volume trading always puts extra pressure on clerical workers.

Ship Attack Report Pushes Mart Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with a loss today. Selling increased on news that the Soviet Union charged American planes had bombed one of its ships in a North Vietnamese port.

Losers outnumbered gainers and the averages were down as leading issues took losses.

IBM was off about half a dozen points in late dealings and many prominent issues were off a point or so.

The trend was higher in the morning, but barely so. Gains were being trimmed gradually as the enthusiasm of Thursday's rebound petered out.

With nothing in the way of reassurance about the Middle East crisis and with a weekend coming up, traders went to the sidelines.

Enthusiasm was dampened considerably by Chicago & North Western, one of the hottest issues recently, which erased an early gain and showed a loss of more than 8. Its projected merger partner, Milwaukee Railroad dropped 4.

Essex Wire (new), which is being acquired by North Western, paced the list on volume and held a gain of more than 2.

Occidental Petroleum and United Air Lines also were active and about a point lower.

Down about a point were Du Pont, Zenith, IBM and International Harvester.

Service Wives' Fare Cuts Asked

SAN FRANCISCO — Pan American World Airways has applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to offer a 25 per cent fare reduction for U.S. servicemen's wives flying between the West Coast and Honolulu, effective June 24.

The new round trip fare from San Francisco would be $165, subject to government approval. The present economy fare is $220.

The women would be traveling to meet their husbands flown to Honolulu from Vietnam on rest and recreation flights which Pan Am provides the U.S. government at cost.

Dividend Declared

SAN FRANCISCO — Directors of Foremost Dairies, Inc., has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 12 and one-half cents per share on the company's common stock, payable July 3 to stockholders of record June 15.

Fresh fruit juices as a preventative of scurvy were recommended as far back as 1750.
